Proposal To Ban Space Warfare May Go To U.N.

Considered Move Toward Summit Meet

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States may throw into the United Nations soon President Eisenhower's proposal for an international pact to ban outer space warfare. This could lead to direct American-Soviet talks on the issue.

Use of the United Nations is one of the steps reported under serious consideration at the State Department for carrying forward East-West moves toward a summit conference.

Secretary of State Dulles and his advisers believe the United States has gained the initiative on this issue during the last week. They would like to keep it. Some concede privately they will fail to do so if they merely sit back and wait for Premier Bulganin to reply to President Eisenhower's message last Sunday in which he conditionally agreed to a top-level conference.

Steps Considered
Among the steps under consideration are introduction of the outer space control proposal in the United Nations in some manner not yet worked out, the use of diplomatic channels between Russia and the Western powers to begin exploratory exchanges on summit conference issues, more detailed talks with America's allies on precisely how to approach a top-level meeting, and what practical objectives to seek there.

Consider Special Session
In the policy studies within the State Department, suggestions have included calling a special session of the U.N. General Assembly to begin work on an agenda for a big power meeting. This is understood to have originated with specialists in U.N. affairs. At the moment it does not rank high on the list of possibilities.

Consideration has also been given to calling a meeting of the much smaller U.N. Security Council under normal U.N. responsibilities, the problem of the reunification of Germany is not so considered here. State Department officials say that must be tackled by the four powers which occupied Germany after World War II — the United States, Russia, Britain, and France.

May Separate Proposals
Hence there is considerable interest in the possibility of separate proposals.

U.S. H-BOMBERS
ARRIVE IN ENGLAND
LONDON (AP) — The U.S. Air Force Saturday moved its newest bombers, the Douglas B66 Destroyer, into the H-bomb front line.

Eight of the sleek giants flew in from Hurlburt Air Force Base in Florida. Eight more are due Sunday to take up the watch on the east coast of Britain as part of the NATO retaliation force.

A U.S. 2nd Air Force announcement said the 700 m.p.h. bombers have a nuclear carrying capability, a modest military description for an H-bomber.

Sen. M. M. Neely Dies: Cuts Demo Margin Of Control In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Death from cancer Saturday ended the colorful 35-year-old congressional career of Sen. Matthew M. Neely, 83, West Virginia Democrat and a severe critic of President Eisenhower.

Neely's death, in Bethesda, Md., Naval Hospital after an 18-month illness, left a Senate vacancy to be filled temporarily by a man who will be appointed by Republican Gov. Cecil H. Underwood of West Virginia.

Underwood's expected appointment of a Republican would reduce the Democratic margin of Senate control to 49-47 over the GOP and revive the possibility that Republicans could take over — with Vice President Nixon's vote — if the Democrats lose an additional seat.

Underwood himself seems unlikely to succeed Neely since the Democratic president of the State Senate, Ralph Beaty, then would take over as governor.

The appointment of a Republican, however, also would lift the GOP's sagging hopes of regaining control of the U.S. Senate in next November's voting, since Republicans would hold both West Virginia seats which will be at stake then.

Neely, who defined himself as a liberal, fought not only with Republicans but with Democrats on occasion. He feuded with the late Sen. Rush D. Holt, West Virginia Democrat who opposed the New Deal.

In 1949, when State House Democrats would not agree to back his choice for governor, Neely ran again for the House; again in 1942 when he was defeated for the Senate; and a third time in 1946 when he sought reelection to the House.

Democratic and Republican colleagues joined in expression of regret. Eisenhower, who had been the object of sharp personal criticism by Neely, sent a telegram of sympathy to Mrs. Neely and made public a statement in which he said:

"As a member of the House of Representatives, governor of West Virginia and as a senator, Mr. Neely served his state and country faithfully for many years." In 1955, when few other Democrats were openly criticizing Eisenhower, Neely said in a speech the President never belonged to a church until he was elected but was being photographed nearly every Sunday attending services after he entered the White House. Republicans holly accused Neely of putting religion into politics. Neely based his 1954 senatorial campaign largely on criticism of Eisenhower's domestic policies. Born Nov. 9, 1874, on a farm near Groves, W. Va., Neely in 1908 was clerk of the West Virginia House of Delegates. From there he went to Congress.

Ten-Year Superhighway Plan Stretches Out To 24-Year Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's 41,000-mile superhighway system linking every state with expressways will not be completed until 1980 under present schedules, Senate testimony indicated Saturday.

This would compare with a 1972 completion date planned when the act setting up the present form of the interstate system and its financing was passed in 1956. It would mean a 24-year program instead of the 10-year plan recommended to President Eisenhower in 1955 by a special commission he named with Gen. Lucius D. Clay as its chairman.

The 1980 date has not been given by any of the Commerce Department or Bureau of Public Roads officials administering the program, nor by members of Congress concerned with it.

But testimony of administration officials already presented to the Senate Public Roads subcommittee, which is studying progress of the interstate system, points to a stretch-out of the program to 1980. As the 1956 act was passed, it called for 13 years of appropriations of federal funds to the states for the superhighway network on a 90-10 basis. The appropriations were for fiscal years 1957 through 1969. Construction was to be finished in 1972, three years after the last appropriation.

But Federal Highway Administrator Bertrand D. Tallamy told the Senate subcommittee this week that it now appears the final appropriation could not be made until 1977. He said this is because a pay-as-you-go principle written into the 1956 law would force his agency to hold appropriations through the 1960s well below the sums authorized in the act.

Under this provision, the Commerce Department cannot appropriate money to the states at a rate faster than money will be available in the highway trust fund set up to finance the program. Tallamy said administration proposals to finance some additional items from the trust fund would play a part in this stretch-out.

However, his testimony was based on the 1956 act which contemplated a 27½-billion-dollar federal-state cost for the interstate. Secretary of Commerce Weeks told the senators in separate testimony that new estimates made by the states and approved by the Bureau of Public Roads showed the final cost actually would be about 40 billion dollars.

The Navy — a perfect host throughout — helped where it could as the four youths tried Saturday to hear of their rocket. Its launching frame, and the boxes of sulphur and zinc, the fuel. A Navy boat ferried them to nearby Wallop Island, where the attempts were made.

Hold American-Born Scottish Woodcutter For 4 Murders

HAMILTON, Scotland (AP) — A husky American-born Scottish woodcutter accused of four murders was spirited to a secret hideout Saturday under heavy police guard. Angry women chased the police wagon shouting "you devil!"

Peter Thomas Anthony Manuel, 31, hid his face under a raincoat while being hustled from the court house to a police wagon. His escort of detectives held back the shouting crowd, mostly women.

Manuel was arraigned behind closed doors. Guards barred both press and public from the courtroom. The handsome woodcutter, who was born in New York City of Scottish parents, was silent at the brief hearing.

Detectives refused to discuss a motive for the murders.

Manuel was arrested Wednesday and secretly charged with slaying a family of three in their bungalow on New Year's Day. The next day police dug up the body of Isabelle Cooke, 17-year-old schoolgirl who had been missing for 19 days.

The widespread search for the girl had led to a shallow grave in a lonely field near her home in this suburban town 11 miles outside Glasgow. Police Superintendent

Alexander Murray told newsmen Manuel was charged Saturday morning with the Cooke girls' murder.

The New Year's Day victims were Peter Smart, 45; his wife Doris, 42; and their 11-year-old son. All had been shot in the head. Manuel was also charged in this case with housebreaking. Detectives said money and other articles were taken from the Smart home.

Neighbors of Manuel said he was born in Manhattan of immigrant Scottish parents who returned to Scotland while he was still a child. He has been living in a Glasgow suburb with his elderly parents. His father, Samuel, formerly was district councillor in the local government.

Scottish police refuse to discuss cases they are investigating or the background of suspects.

Feeling has been running high in the Lanarkshire area around Glasgow for weeks. Ten unsolved murders brought public criticism of detectives. Detectives are working on the unsolved slayings of five women and the disappearance of an 11-year-old girl, all in Glasgow or its suburbs.

What has baffled detectives is that the murders fit into no set pattern that might give a clue.

Niggardliness Charge Hit By Dworshak

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Ellender (D-La.) said Saturday night he will fight any efforts to give the Pentagon a blank check for missiles, satellites or other new weapons.

"Merely pouring money into our defense program will not automatically work miracles," said Ellender, a member of the Appropriations Committee.

A Republican on the committee, Sen. Dworshak of Idaho, also took a swing at statements that Congress has been niggardly in voting funds for missiles, aircraft and other defense hardware.

False Premise
"Much testimony before congressional committee hearings is seeking to create this false premise," Dworshak said in a statement.

"American security will be jeopardized and national preparedness undermined by spokesmen of industry and science who contend that inadequate appropriations are responsible for the lack of progress in the field of preparedness."

Both senators referred to Senate and House inquiries as to why Russia was able to put up the first orbiting satellites and what the United States must do about it.

To Resume Inquiry
Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson (D-Tex.) will resume the Senate's satellite-missile inquiry Monday with Navy witnesses testifying behind closed doors.

His Defense Preparedness subcommittee will hear two World War II military leaders Tuesday, Adm. Chester Nimitz of the Navy and Gen. Carl Spaatz of the Air Force. It may wind up the present phase of hearings Wednesday with testimony by Secretary of Defense McNamara.

A similar inquiry by the House Armed Services Committee will resume Tuesday.

Criticizes Budget
Ellender, criticizing President Eisenhower's new 74-billion-dollar budget, said a big savings in defense outlays could come from tighter unification of the Army, (Continued on Page Nine)

Illinois Prairie Council Girl Scout News

The Greene County Neighborhood Association met on Tuesday, Jan. 14, at 1:00 p.m. in the Legion Auxiliary hall on the square in Carrollton. A fine group of women were in attendance, Girl Scout leaders, assistant leaders and troop committee members from White Hall and Carrollton. Mrs. Harold Osborn presided over the meeting, and it was decided to meet next month on the second Tuesday at 1:00 p.m. in White Hall. Mrs. Bob Allen was appointed secretary of the group and Mrs. C. K. Darrow of White Hall was appointed vice-chairman. Many pertinent items of business were discussed, questionnaires on training were filled out and the executive director stated the purposes of such an organization and indicated that all such meetings would be in the form of training sessions.

Waverly and Franklin leaders, assistant leaders and troop members met on Jan. 16, at 1:00 p.m. in the old grade school on the square in Waverly. Mrs. Paul Handy is chairman of the group and she appointed Mrs. Gerry Mies as secretary. Items of business were discussed, followed by an hour's workshop in the field of International Friendship.

Neighborhood Meetings Jan. 23. Neighborhood meetings will be held for schools on the south side of State street in Jacksonville on January 23, at the home of Mrs. John Griffin, 600 Woodland, as follows: 10:00 a.m., Washington, South Jacksonville and Jonathan Turner schools; 1:30 p.m., Franklin, Our Saviour's and Salem Lutheran schools.

The Camp committee, with Mrs. Darrell Roegge as chairman, met at the Girl Scout office on Wednesday evening, Jan. 15, at 7:30. Present were Mrs. Perk Chumley, Mrs. Alex Jones, Mrs. Clarence Morris, Mrs. Lawrence Watson, Mrs. Roegge and Mrs. Hartman. The Camp Stamps offered to the Girl Scouts by the office were discussed, and it was decided to release them at the present time so that girls may begin to save for camp. Each leader who has Scouts that are interested may purchase stamps from the office. Stamps are worth 10c and the stamp folders are free. It is suggested that the leader set aside one meeting day each month for stamp day at which time the girls may bring the money they have saved for camp stamps. The leader keeps a record book for stamp transactions, as well as keeping the folders for the girls so that they won't be lost. If for any reason a girl cannot make use of her stamps her money will be refunded.

News Notes From JHS

By
Connie Rae Copeland and Junior Gotschall

The Senior Class of 1958 will present "Around the World in Eighty Days" as its class play on February 14.

The play is based on a novel by Jules Verne and produced by special arrangement with The Dramatic Publishing Company of Chicago.

The cast for the play was selected this week. They are as follows: Linda Walker, Sue Fairfield, Mary Ellen Hammer, Janet Elliott, Clark Arnold, Nancy Kelly, Milton Schroeder, Bob Bradley, Palmer Woods, Charlotte Cody, Ken Dobson, Spencer Bonjean, Bruce Kuster, Judi Boruff, Steve Wilson, Suzanne Carroll, Judy Schrader, Linda Young, Mitchell Zachary, Bronna Crabtree, Jim Walker, Gary Dumas, and Pete Hartley. The extras who will appear in the play are: Rebecca King, Sue Potts, Connie Copeland, Judy Taylor, Barbara Dewese, Janet Covey, Caroline Wifner, Cynthia Wheeler, Pat Campbell, Lois Albright and Cora Bridgman.

The play is directed by Miss Ann Jones. The Senior Class advisor is Mrs. Earnest Savage.

The Junior Class of JHS worked diligently all week adding the finishing touches to their class play "The Form Divine." Friday evening, January 17, they presented the play before a near capacity audience in the JHS Auditorium.

The play was concerned with the joys and sorrows of teenagers desperately trying to grow up, and several parents striving to turn the years backward and meet the youngsters half way. The play was directed by Miss Fergene Gordin. The Junior Class advisors are Mrs. Gladys Rust and Miss Helen Richards.

After the play Friday evening members of the class celebrated the success of the play with a party.

Members of Hi Y enjoyed a speech by Kenneth Stapleton of Casler and Stapleton, consulting engineers firm. He gave the boys an insight into the many opportunities that are in the field of engineering.

A group of approximately 20 teenagers from J.H.S. were present at Springfield High last Saturday. They were there taking the College Entrance Exam that most colleges require. A test will also be conducted in Jacksonville, some time in March.

Tuesday evening, a film was shown in Tri-Hi-Y. The film was on the youth government called "Legislature" which is a project of the Y.M.C.A. The legislature will be held in April this year. Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y members from all over the state will be present. It will be held in Springfield, Illinois.

Monday, in homerooms, each student council representative collected money for the March of Dimes. The students were most generous.

The seniors voted for a girl out of the senior class who has been a leader and good citizen throughout her four years at J.H.S. These are the qualifications for the D.A.R. award. The winner will be announced later.

The Jetties of Jacksonville high school have new wearing apparel. To school they now wear monogrammed white push-up sleeveless blouses. To the games they wear white sweaters with red collars. With both tops are worn red pleated skirts.

A circus band has been formed, by Mr. Welch, that practices on Monday evenings. The music that is played are tunes from that famous Barnum and Bailey Band. The group numbers approximately 30.

A trumpet quartet and a woodwind ensemble were chosen to attend a clinic at Western State University. They will perform for the music faculty there, and also for representatives from Iowa University. A trumpet trio from Iowa University will give a demonstration number. Candids from the band will be made by the instructors. Mr. Welch will accompany the members of the Jacksonville High School Concert Band attending.

Bob Isle, John Hamilton, Fred Berry, Pierre Portee, Terry Brennan, Bill Norvell.

Saturday, Jan. 25, students from J.H.S. and Routt will be canvassing the homes of Jacksonville for polio. They will be selling peanuts and the slogan is "Shell Out For Polio."

Municipal Airport Activities

Student Pilot Jim Wright of Ashland and Flight Instructor Howard Dietrich made a dual cross country training flight Saturday to Peoria and Lincoln in the Cessna 140 trainer.

This week's congratulations goes to Wesley McGinnis of Concord who made his first solo flight Saturday in the Cessna 120 trainer. Wesley is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Farrell McGinnis.

Phil Clary, teacher in the Jacksonville High school, is now the proud owner of a Cessna 120 airplane. Mr. Clary is a former Air Force pilot and holds a commercial pilot's license. The Cessna is based at Jacksonville Municipal Airport.

Several departures were made at Jacksonville Municipal Airport Sunday to far away destinations. Among them were: Henry Longmeyer departed for Denver, Colo., in his Cessna 180; Lennie Butcher departed for Canton, Ohio, in his Bellanca; Robert L. Nissen departed for Milwaukee in his Stinson Voyager.

All personnel of Byerly Airlines attended a sales meeting along with all personnel of Byerly Airport at Greater Peoria Airport Tuesday evening. Robert Pellit, sales manager of Tuff-Edged, combe of Elsie, and Clint Brown of Piper Aircraft Company were present for this meeting. The 1958 Piper aircraft line was discussed along with the new Comanche and its features. Deliveries of the new Comanche are now being made to distributors and dealers.

The Community Flyers club will hold its monthly meeting at the Southern Air Cafe on Monday evening, Jan. 20, at 7 p.m. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Musser are in charge of the program.

Statistics show that only 8 percent of the population have ever been a passenger in an airplane. With this thought in mind, Byerly Airlines has offered a free ride over Jacksonville each week to someone selected at random from the telephone directory.

The National Safety Council figures show that one is 15 times safer in an aircraft than the present day automobile on the highways.

This week's free ride over Jacksonville and vicinity goes to the Charles W. Collins family of 540 West Greenwood. The Collins family may phone Byerly Airlines at Chestnut 5-4620 for an appointment.

Dr. V. M. Tye, Eureka College, CWF Speaker

The January general meeting of the Christian Women's Fellowship of Central Christian Church was held recently with the president, Mrs. Gladys Rust, presiding. She called on Mrs. Ed Garlich for devotions who centered her paper on "Resolutions and Pledges," taking the Scripture from the Book of Revelations. She read the Florence Nightingale pledge to the group and used this pledge as a symbol in several phases of life.

Miss Mabel Ruyie introduced the speaker of the month, Dr. V. M. Tye of Eureka College. Dr. Tye spoke on "Ideals, Unity and Brotherly Love in the Work the Women of the Church are Responsible For." Dr. Tye stated that woman's work is a challenge; they lead in Christianity; they spiritually give renewed strength in church, home, community, state and nation. Dr. Tye was inspirational in praising work accomplished by women leaders.

Group Six held a silver tea following the program. Mrs. Ralph Jones is leader of this group.

in 1927. In 1927 the Army Air Corps was a small unit of only 36 airplanes and now Mr. Jones retires from a service which encircles the world.

Most of his military career has been in the communications field. From March 1932 he served with the 34th Air Division in Albuquerque, N. M. as a communications officer with three units of the division.

Mr. Jones is now associated with an Albuquerque audio engineering company.

Three More File For Morgan County Posts

The big field of Morgan county primary candidates continued to grow during the week end when several more petitions for county officers were placed on file.

Ralph Bourn of Jacksonville, Route 2, a former Morgan county sheriff, and Kenneth W. Sheppard, 1721 South Main street, an insurance representative, filed petitions for the office of Sheriff. Both are Republicans.

Edward Brennan, 1708 Mound avenue, filed as a Democratic candidate for County Treasurer.

The two new petitions brought the total of Republicans who seek the office of Sheriff to six, with one or two more expected before the final hour of filing at 4:30 p.m. Monday afternoon.

County Clerk George Douglas again repeated his statement yesterday that no petitions will be received after the regular closing hour of the court house at 4:30 p.m.

Grand Jury Makes Jail Recommendations

At the conclusion of the recent Morgan county grand jury session, a committee of three members made the customary inspection of the county jail. Several recommendations were made after the committee completed its visit.

The grand jury report was as follows: Honorable Creel Douglass, Judge of the Circuit Court Morgan County, Illinois. Dear Judge Douglass:

Having visited the county jail this 9th day of January 1938 as members of the grand jury for the November Term 1937, we would like to make the following recommendations:

We strongly urge that provisions be made for the removal of prisoners in case of emergency, such as fire; there being only one exit we recommend that another be installed, possibly a fire escape.

We wish to compliment the Sheriff on the cleanliness of the jail as it was indeed spot and span.

The prison diet seems to be adequate.

A situation which we believe needs correcting is the fact that there are only two turnkeys at the jail each taking 24 hour shifts. This means that one man sometimes works approximately 100 hours per week. We feel that a much more efficient method of operation would be achieved with at least three turnkeys taking eight hour shifts—some such arrangement as might be worked out by the sheriff along with making more than one car available at night so that emergencies in late hours may be answered speedily. This no doubt would call for more men at night along with additional cars. A satisfactory solution to this could probably be worked out between the sheriff and the Board of County Commissioners. Though it may be beyond the province of the grand jury, after a frank discussion of the matter of expenses and salaries of the sheriff's office, we believe efforts should be made to fix a base salary scale commensurate with the duties of the sheriff's personnel, and that the use of county owned or county rented cars, in lieu of privately owned cars by deputies, should be investigated. We would like very much to see that something along these lines is achieved.

Respectfully submitted, Joseph E. Doyle, Chairman of the Grand Jury. Lawrence Flynn, Member of the Grand Jury. Robert W. Houston, Member of the Grand Jury.

IBSS Pupils Give Program For Auxiliary

The regular meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary unit 278 was held at 7:30 p.m. Jan. 15 with Mrs. Edward Brennan, president, in charge.

Mrs. Lyle Davis, finance chairman, reminded members of the chili supper to be held Jan. 23rd.

Reports were heard from Mrs. Ruth Wilding, coupon chairman and Mrs. Evelyn Broome, radio chairman. The courtesy chairman, Mrs. Sid Armstrong, announced she had sent get well cards to Mrs. Ault McCrackin, Mrs. Cora Lovell and Mrs. James Lakin. Flowers were also sent to the Zella Reid funeral.

A donation was made to the Marquette Home for Boys at Grafton.

Mrs. Russell Armstrong and Miss Barbara Broome were new members attending. Miss Broome is a new junior member.

Mrs. John Daly won the attendance prize. Mrs. Nelle Wandell, child welfare chairman, was in charge of the program and presented Miss Helen Sweeney from the Illinois Braille and Sight Saving school. Miss Sweeney presented a number of her pupils who showed the group teaching methods employed at the school. The group included Jim Crockett, Marilyn Gill, Sally Southey and Janet Waverly. A quartet number was presented by Carol Smith, Celine Bush, Betty Carter and Clodell Price.

Refreshments were served by the chairman, Mrs. Wandell and her committee. The next meeting will be held Feb. 5 with the Americanism chairman, Mrs. Claude Gustine, in charge.

Japan Theme At 1st Baptist Society Meet

The Women's Mission Society of First Baptist church met Thursday afternoon, Jan. 16, in the church Fellowship Hall. A dessert course was served by members of the Helen Benjamin Circle, Mrs. Charles H. Story, chairman, presiding the meeting. Colorful fans, parasols and flowers carried out the Japanese motif and chopsticks were used at the tables.

Following dessert the meeting was opened by Mrs. Claude Lewis, president. The society's theme song, "Thou Who Crowned Earth With Beauty," was sung. Devotions were led by Mrs. Perry Roberts, who read scripture and led in the singing of "Oh Jesus, Thou Hast Promised."

Prayer was offered by Mrs. C. R. Dowland, Mrs. M. R. Range and Mrs. Archie Brownell served as accompanists.

The program, "Swift Currents," was presented in the form of a tape recording. As a setting, color wheels in various bright shades, real fans and paper fish, all characteristic of Japan, were used. There was also an arrangement of Japanese vases, rice bowls, cups and other art objects.

On the program Mrs. L. P. Hauck, representing an American Missionary, conducted an interview with four Japanese women. Mrs. Leonard I. Wood, Mrs. M. A. Birdson, Mrs. Anderson Kitchen and Mrs. William Dobbs, taking the parts. They were the native dress of the Japanese and in turn told of the organization of the Christian women in Japan and their national conferences. They also described the real contribution Japanese women are making to home and family life, work with young people and in leadership training.

During the business session which followed the program, officers reports were made and committee reports given. The meeting closed with prayer.

ATTENTION VOTERS

I have decided to seek the nomination for the office of Sheriff of Morgan County in the April primary election.

My appeal to the voters will be based on my PREVIOUS RECORD as Sheriff and on my subsequent experience as a special agent of the FEDERAL BUREAU OF INVESTIGATION. I have been encouraged to make the race by friends who used the facilities of my office, previously, in the solution of social and welfare problems, including juvenile delinquency.

During my tenure of office from 1946 to 1950 I faithfully and impartially administered the laws. I modernized the office, with a minimum of expense.

I have always co-operated with law enforcement, social service and welfare agencies, in the solution of overall problems. I expect to continue that special service. I am naturally interested in the youth of Morgan county, believing that the MORGAN COUNTY OF TOMORROW depends on its YOUTH OF TODAY.

My previous administration of the office I now seek was conscientious and efficient. With my added training and experience gained by service as a Special Agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, I feel I am especially qualified to serve Morgan county as Sheriff.

Home And Arts Club At Waverly Holds Election

WAVERLY — The Progressive Home and Arts club met Thursday of last week with Mrs. Harold Lowery, with Mrs. E. H. Wiese as assistant hostess.

Eleven members responded to the roll call and the club voted to contribute $200 for the United Fund.

The annual election resulted as follows: president, Mrs. Leslie Redfern; vice president, Mrs. Richard Whalen; secretary, Mrs. Joe Aubrey; treasurer, Mrs. Ernest Lomelino.

Mrs. Everett Turner, Mrs. O. E. Thomson and Mrs. Richard Whalen won the prizes in "Five Hundred" which followed.

Refreshments were served by the hostess.

During a special meeting of the Board of Education of Community School No. 6 January 17th all members were present and Miss Donna Hamman was hired to replace Edwin DeLong, third grade teacher whose resignation is effective January 17th.

Miss Hamman is a graduate of Bluffs High School and she received her teachers training at Western State University in Macon, Ga.

During the regular meeting last Thursday Kenneth Mayes was employed as a bus driver for the rest of the term that finishes Edwin DeLong's term, and a letter regarding the roof of the grade school was read.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ross and family and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Shipp and family were dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Miner.

The January 23rd meeting night of Waverly Eastern Star Chapter 320 has been designated as "Bring A Member Night" and all members are invited and urged to attend. The meeting opens at 7:30 p.m. and refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Mrs. R. E. Lee will be hostess to the Literature and Music department of the Women's club on Wednesday afternoon, Jan. 22 at 2:30 p.m. instead of Miss Eunice VanWinkle, as listed in the book. Recollections of Humorous Incidents of Waverly will be the roll call. Mrs. Paul Allyn will give the program of a talk and read a play on Plymouth, Mass., dealing with the early settlement of the Pilgrim colony.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Head Of State Narcotics Control Says He 'Specializes In Hoodlums'

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Malachi Harney, who is superintendent of the new Illinois Narcotics Control Division, calls himself "a man who specializes in hoodlums."

The unit he heads was created by the 1957 Legislature. Its job is to enforce narcotics regulations and to offer information on narcotics violators to state and local authorities.

Harney, 62, is a storehouse of information in this field since he was for 16 years assistant to the federal narcotics commissioner. Gov. Stratton appointed him to the new post.

Harney's "main claim to fame," he said in an interview, is the part he played in the first conviction on a narcotics charge, of Louis "Lepeke" Buchalter, Buchalter, head of Murder, Inc., later was convicted of murder and executed.

The narcotics problem is seen by Harney as "a cancer which starts in a small area and then spreads as the addict moves to other locations and introduces others to the habit."

"The addict is a menace to himself and the community and is slowly committing suicide," he said.

Asked about the relationship between delinquency and addiction, he said, "Addiction is the result of delinquency rather than the cause. But it is a vicious circle. Once a person has formed the habit, he will do anything to support it."

There are about 60,000 addicts in the United States, 7,000 known to be in Illinois, Harney said.

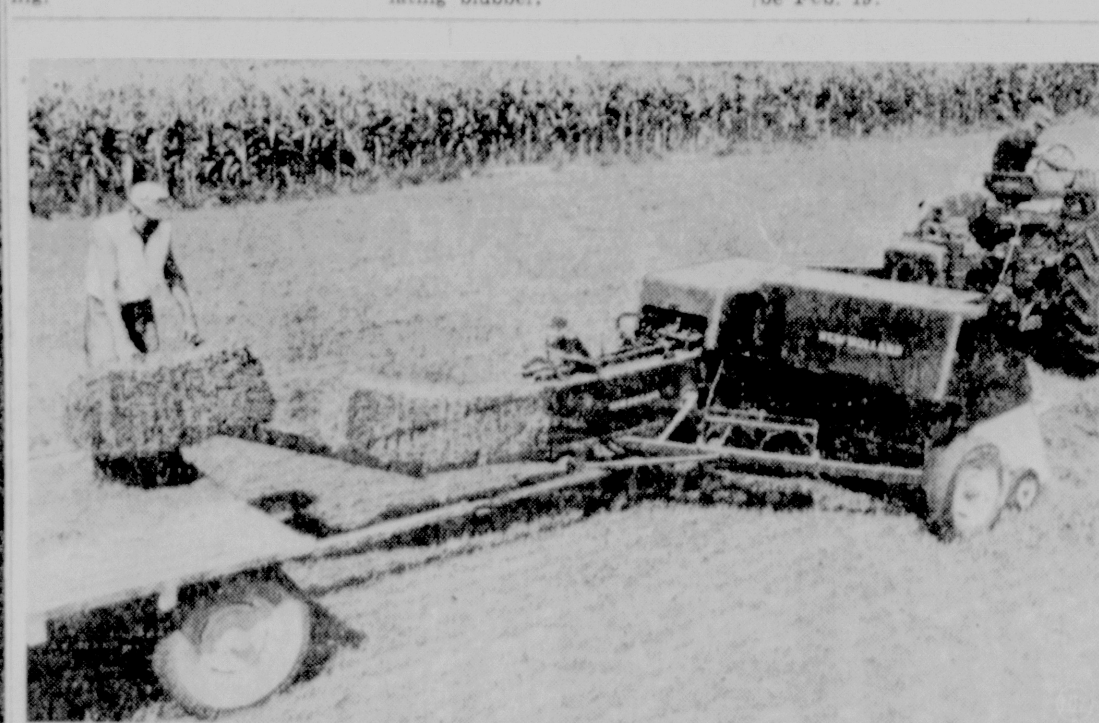

A federal report in June 1957 said addicts were increasing in Illinois at the rate of 100 per month.

21 ATTEND MEETING OF ST. SEBASTIAN ALTAR SOCIETY

WAVERLY — Miss Margaret Maher and Mrs. Ollie Maher were hostesses of the Altar Society of St. Sebastian church, which met in the church basement for their regular meeting Tuesday afternoon. Twenty-one members and Rev. Hugh Cassidy, the new parish priest attended, and Rev. M. Kearns visited briefly, being enroute to his new assignment in Greenville.

During the business meeting officers were elected for the coming year as follows: president, Mrs. Richard Whalen, vice president, Mrs. George Dorwart; secretary, Mrs. Al Hodgson.

Miss Kathryn Allyn told of visiting St. Peter's church in Chicago on New Year's eve. A social hour and the serving of refreshments concluded the meeting.

"SPORTSCAR" HAY BALER—Farmers attending the Pennsylvania Farm Show at Harrisburg will get a look at a new hay baler so highly maneuverable it has been called the "sportscar of farm machinery." It is pictured above, being demonstrated near New Holland, Pa. Called the Super Hayliner, it picks up hay from hay rows, sweeps it into the baler. Here measured amounts of hay are whisked into the bale chamber. By special tension controls, the farmer can control the density of the bale and automatically get the bale-weight he wants. Bales are tied with either wire or twine, as preferred.

POLIO VICTIM HELPS RAISE FUND

From his wheel chair Dr. Joseph Panella of Meredosia helped swell the March of Dimes campaign fund in Jacksonville. Dr. Panella is shown near a Poster Boy on the public square, as Alvin Middendorf drops in a contribution. Dr. Panella carried on his part of the campaign with enthusiasm, knowing from personal experience the great humane service the Polio Foundation renders.

First Donation From Abroad For ICEC 1958 Fair Arrives

The ICEC International Fair committee has received its first donation of note from Korea. The gift is a Korean brass wind bell about five inches high with a brass fish attached by a chain to a four pronged clapper. The bell is traditionally hung outdoors where its mellow tones are said to herald the approach of a friend.

Acquisition of the bell has both local and international associations. In response to a request from Mrs. Conrad Hovik, 1007 Edgemoor Road, the bell was donated by Col. George B. DeGroat, Mrs. Hovik's father.

Mrs. Hovik has consented to exhibit some of the interesting and unusual articles which she acquired during her years of residence in Japan. She recalls with special interest a trip to the land of the Ainu Indians and being a guest at one of the Emperor's birthday parties. A unique item on display will be a piece of the Empress Migie's hand woven silk wedding obi which was given to Mrs. Hovik by a Mr. Hara, prominent industrialist in pre-war Japan. Other treasures of lacquer with inlay of mother-of-pearl and ivory may be seen at the Fair to be held again at Lincoln School on March 15th. Proceeds from the Fair will be used to assist students in Special Education programs at various colleges and universities.

WEEK'S GRAIN SHOWS LITTLE CHANGE

CHICAGO (P) — Except for two fairly strong pushes, grain futures traded in a sticky market this week and all of them closed within two cents of where they began, most of them within one cent.

The first push occurred on Tuesday in soybeans. It carried prices up around two cents a bushel within a short time but ran out of steam the next day.

That buying spurge followed a report that the government estimate of the carryover in soybeans at 59 million bushels was 25 million bushels higher and that an official revision would be forthcoming.

There has not yet been a revision and the rally was short-lived. Most of the gains were erased within the hour.

The other rally came on Friday in wheat and boosted prices as much as two cents a bushel. The climb was still on at the finish. At the close of the week, wheat was 1/2 cent higher, oats 1/4 cent lower, corn 1/4 cent lower, soybeans 1/4 cent lower, soybean meal 1/4 cent lower, and soybean oil 1/4 cent lower.

Traders were inclined to shrug off President Eisenhower's special farm message to Congress as having no immediate effect on the market, although some said developments with respect to his proposals will have day-to-day influences.

Chicago Livestock Market Report

CHICAGO (P) — Following is a summary of the week's hog, cattle and sheep market:

(USDA) — No. 1 200-220 lb butchers reached 20.25 on Friday, highest price since Dec. 27. Other No. 1 and 2 190-230 barrows and gilts sold on the closing session at 19.85-20.00 with bulk No. 2 and 3 18.75-19.50. Same grades 240-260 lbs. closed at 18.75-19.25 and 270-290 lbs. 18.00-18.75. 375-550 lb sows closed at 15.50-16.75.

CHICAGO (P) — Prices at the close of trading in the hog market this week were 25 to 50 cents higher with sows 50 cents higher.

Sows were scarce all week and comprised about 8 per cent of the offerings. Packers found the market competitive throughout the week with shippers buying about 40 per cent of the receipts each day.

The highest price was paid on Friday for the limited number of 205-220 lb butcher hogs grading No. 1. The top price of $20.25 was the highest since Dec. 27. Offerings under 240 lbs comprised the larger portion of the week's receipts.

Slaughter steer prices advanced mostly 50 cents to $1 in an active market throughout the week. Supply was somewhat less than during the previous week when 54,009 arrivals made it the heaviest in 10 years. About two-thirds of the receipts were slaughter steers.

The week's top of $31 was paid on two days and was the highest since Nov. 28, 1956. The bulk of choice and prime steers brought $26-30.

Food and choice vealers sold at $26-31 with standard grades at $20-25.

Slaughter lambs were steady to weak and slaughter ewes were fully steady. Receipts of prime grades were scarce and the top of $24.25 for the week was paid on Monday and Thursday. The bulk of choice woolled lambs sold at $23-23.75 with good and choice slaughter ewes bringing $8-10.50.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (P) — The stock market plugged ahead this week for a good gain despite a continuation of unabated economic news.

The Associated Press average of 60 stock was up $3.60 to $100.30 in a continuation of its irregular rise since the close of 1957.

The badly-abused railroad section of the average was mainly responsible for this advance. The dismal plight of the rails was aired plentifully this week during hearings in Washington, but instead of depressing their shares this may have been of considerable help to them. Apparently there is considerable hope in investment circles that some aid will be forthcoming for the industry.

The big news of the week for the stock market was the lowering of margin requirements for stock purchases. After the close on Wednesday, the Federal Reserve Board cut margin requirements to 50 per cent from 70 per cent. It was the first change since April 1953, when margins were boosted to 70 per cent from 60 per cent.

The five most active issues this week on the New York Stock Exchange were:

American Telephone, up 1/4 at 17 1/2; General Motors, up 1/4 at 40 1/2; Bethlehem Steel, up 1/4 at 35 1/2; and Royal Dutch, up 1/4 at 38 1/2.

ELLENDER TO FIGHT ANY BLANK CHECK DEFENSE SPENDING

Navy and Air Force.

"First and foremost, we must end the duplication of effort in the services battle that has been going on between the three armed services," he said in a recorded radio address (WWL, New Orleans).

Rops President

"It's a sad indictment of the President, who, himself, is a military leader, that the Russians had to fire a satellite ahead of us before he woke up to what was going on in his own household," he said.

"As commander in chief, he can end that rivalry tomorrow if he wishes, or, for that matter, he could have ended it last year or the day he was sworn in as President," he said.

Ellender said no new legislation is needed.

Says Money Can Be Saved

Ellender, often an economy advocate, said there are many areas in the President's new budget where money can be saved.

He questioned requests for four billions of new foreign aid, saying friendly nations "should now recognize the great strain our country faces in girding itself to meet the challenge in the age of space flight."

Dworshak said the Defense Department began the current fiscal year last July 1 with just under $9 billion dollars of unexpended funds that Congress had voted, including more than 13 billions that were unobligated.

He said this included more than 12 billions for Air Force aircraft and missiles; more than 4 billions for Army equipment and missiles; and more than 5 billions for Navy aircraft and related procurement.

YOUNG SCIENTISTS' ROCKET TEST FAILS

The four assembled their missile with infinite, almost loving, care. The work went smoothly until it came time to fuel the rocket.

They had forgotten their tool to pack the solid fuel tightly into the chamber.

They described the type of equipment needed to tamp the fuel and sulphur into the rocket. A helpful Navy man trotted over to a shack and returned with a broom. The boys sawed off the end of the broom and used the handle as a tamper.

Finally all was ready. The party retreated to the relative protection of the shack, about 200 feet from where the rocket was poised for takeoff.

One of the boys started the countdown.

When he reached the end, Bell, who had helped the boys through the trigger switch.

Blue smoke poured from the slim cylinder, but it didn't move. An examination showed that the main propellant charge had not been ignited. A metal diaphragm separating the fuel from the igniter had failed to kick out.

On the second attempt, the Navy lent them a black power igniter to try to fire the solid fuel. The igniter went off, but it split the thin walls of the cylinder and failed to fire the propellant.

"Well, back to the drawing board," boys," said Bell, as he herded them away.

rating the Eisenhower outer space proposal from the rest of the propositions which the President put up to Bulgarians in the note last weekend, bringing it directly and officially to the attention of the United Nations.

Dulles said Thursday that the problem of safeguarding any peace agreement governing the uses of outer space could be assigned to a U.N. commission. This suggested the prospect of an outer-space "police agency" which would involve far-reaching systems of inspection in the United States, Russia, and other countries.

But inspection is precisely the issue on which all disarmaments talks have come to grief for more than 10 years, and there is no reason so far to think that the fate of the President's outer space proposition will be different.

Franklin Lions Ready For Winter Festival Thursday Evening

Install New Officers At G.A.R. Meeting

Plans and preparations are in the final stages for the Franklin Lions Club Winter Festival to be held at Franklin High School next Thursday starting at 6 p.m.

Members of the club have started plans for the preparation of burgo and other types of food for the festival. According to reports, a growing list of volunteers will be on hand to stir the giant vats of burgo "around the clock."

A full slate of food and entertainment is scheduled for guests, including burgo, homemade pie, and a full evening of fun that will feature round and square dancing. The family type entertainment will also include several types of games for old and young.

Committees for the affair have been appointed as follows:

Chairman: Guy Seymour, Dick Sayre, Don Ransdell, Dr. Herman Ramsey and Lloyd Dahman.

Entertainment committee: Byron Smith, chairman; Joe Kinzler, Bill Rees, Bob Shear, Bill Haycraft and Bill Kinnett.

Serving committee: John Gordon, chairman; Don Johnson, Bob Darley, Ed Berschneider, K. K. Klyver, Lloyd Smith, Dave Willy, Leroy Sweet, James Ranson and Bernard Camm.

Drink concession: Fred Berschneider, chairman; Ralph Dahman, Lawrence Smith and Harry Whitlock.

Ticket committee: Don Ransdell, chairman; Milford Rees, Dennis Whalen and Kenneth Schaaf.

Bingo committee: Harold Johnson, chairman; Joe Whalen, Ralph Johnson, Earl Cully and Pat Kennedy.

General chairman for the Winter Festival is Leo J. Berschneider.

The regular meeting of Amvet Auxiliary was held on Tuesday evening at eight o'clock at their club rooms at 210 East Court Street.

President Edna Johnson presided over the meeting, and prayer was given by acting chaplain, Irene Hoffman. The minutes of the previous meeting, were read by secretary June Dods-worth.

The treasurer's report was given by Kathleen Laughery. One new member, Phyllis Vedder, was present.

It was voted to give a donation to the Oaklawn Sanatorium for the T.B. Seals for the past year. Reports were given by Joann Powell, hospital; Eva Burns, community service, and Marie Hart on the turkey dinner recently sponsored by the veterans on Sanatorium for the benefit of Our Saviour's Hospital.

Mary Scanlon was appointed sergeant at arms; Eva Burns, senior vice president; Marge Newby, junior vice president; and Virginia Stewart to serve on the refreshment committee for the coming year.

A dance will be held at the club rooms on Feb. 22 for all members and guests. Bob Sassenberger and his orchestra will play for this event. It was also announced that a Third District Meeting will be held in Jacksonville at the club rooms on February 16th. At this time a potluck supper will be served.

A discussion was held concerning a Stagette which the Auxiliary will sponsor at a date to be announced later. A committee was appointed with Katie Marshall as chairman to make definite plans for this activity.

The attendance prize was won by Marie Hart. The next regular meeting will be held on Tuesday evening, Jan. 28 with a potluck supper to be served at 6:30, and the regular meeting will be held at 8 o'clock.

Present at the meeting were Dorothy Kaufman, Donna Pohl, Eleanor Miller, Ruby Hembrough, Lois Franklin, Mary Corlett, Isabel Weller, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Cargill, Martin Cohen, Jack Rogers, James Crumbaugh, Richard Cutts, Frank Simal, Ralph Heise and Ivan Garrison.

Out of town members present were Miss Lucy Hepfinger and Mrs. Sylvia Lavering of Springfield; Paul Bowman, James Pierce and Charles Mathews of the Quincy Youth Development Commission and Morton Brown of the Quincy Mental Health Clinic.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Martin Cohen.

Conduct Panel Discussion For White Hall WSCS

WHITE HALL — The regular meeting of the W.S.C.S. was held Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Albert Conrad with Mrs. Gloyd Hoeman, assistant hostess. Mrs. Peter Kittel opened the meeting with prayer, with the worship service conducted by Mrs. Hoeman with Mrs. A. E. Hudson at the piano.

The program topic led by Mrs. William Strang was "Christian Action in the March" followed by a panel discussion. Mrs. M. S. McCollister presented a report on Christian Social relations, with Mrs. Harry Price reporting on Stewardship. Refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The February 4th meeting will be a potluck dinner at noon at the church with guests invited and a guest speaker for the afternoon program.

Charge 7 Youths With Plotting To Rob Bank

NEW YORK (P) — George Leggett and six other youths, recruited into a Nazi-type youth gang were arraigned Saturday and charged with plotting to steal autos and rob a bank—for the glory of the "Nordic race."

Leggett, whose admitted Nazi-like ideas gave birth to the youth plot, stood ramrod-straight with no sign of emotion as he and six other boys were arraigned in Ridgewood Weekend Court in Queens.

Two 15-year-old gang members were sent to Children's Court for arraignment.

They were all in court because two other "Nordics" balked at the criminal twist the situation allegedly took and told their parents, who told police.

There was some evidence to indicate Leggett, 21, dubbed "The Fuehrer of Forest Hill," had cooled off on his idea also.

"I consider myself nothing but a fool. I am gradually seeing the light," he was quoted as saying at one point after his arrest.

Police were astonished at the account poured out by both Leggett and the other youngsters after a police roundup in the Queens section of New York City.

Officers said about two months ago the unemployed Leggett—who was quoted as saying he twice had been given psychiatric tests and four years ago set up a Nazi-like superman society of youngsters recruited in his neighborhood.

To the youngsters he began preaching the "Nordic supremacy" and racial ideas of Adolf Hitler. Leggett claimed he got his ideas two years ago from a Manhattan classmate, a German boy "who was always denouncing non-Nordic people as vermin and scum."

On Tuesday Leggett called a meeting at his home. He outlined plans for a Queens bank robbery which, he said, was necessary to raise $40,000 for establishment of an upstate camp to promote "the moral strength, spiritual greatness and physical perfection which make up the true Nordic."

Two 16-year-old gang members, Anton de Jong and Charles Speer, refused to take part in such activities. Their balking, however, brought threats against them and they were forced to go along on a street search for cars to steal.

But in a crowded street section, they escaped and rushed home to inform their parents of what was afoot. The parents called police.

The gang roundup ensued with Leggett and eight others taken into custody. Police said they believed there were several others in the gang.

Psychology And Religion Topic Of Club Lecture

The January meeting of the Jacksonville Psychology Club was held at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Martin Cohen, 1515 Mound avenue.

The meeting was called to order by president J. R. Curtis. Election of officers for the coming year was held. The report of the nominations committee was given by Mrs. Ruby Hembrough. The following slate was elected: president, Arthur Rogers; vice president, Robert Blasier; secretary-treasurer, Mary Corlett.

The group enjoyed a talk by Dr. Leroy Garrett, professor of philosophy at Macdunay College, whose topic, "Psychology and Religion," included the interrelation of psychology and religion, the sociological and psychological factors involved in belief, psychological contribution to religious behavior and the religious belief involved in all behavior. The talk was followed by group discussion.

Present at the meeting were Dorothy Kaufman, Donna Pohl, Eleanor Miller, Ruby Hembrough, Lois Franklin, Mary Corlett, Isabel Weller, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Cargill, Martin Cohen, Jack Rogers, James Crumbaugh, Richard Cutts, Frank Simal, Ralph Heise and Ivan Garrison.

Home Bureau Activities

The Harmony Unit of Home Bureau met at Mrs. Robert Kircher's home Jan. 17. Eighteen members and two guests were present.

Mrs. Roy Nickle introduced Miss Hazel Graves, home adviser, who presented the major lesson, "Your Emotions and Your Health."

The minutes of the December meeting were read by Mrs. Virgil Wegehoff. "A TV Program I Like" was the subject of roll call. The chairman read the highlights of the county executive board meeting and committee reports were given.

The selected subject, "TV Snacks," was given by Miss Frances Gaddis. This was a demonstration and the snacks were later served as refreshments. Mrs. Arthur Nergenh demonstrated the making of mince-meat squares and peanut rice.

The recreation, "Puzzles," was led by Mrs. Kircher. Guests were Mrs. Eugene Brockhouse and Mrs. Mary Kircher.

The February get-together will be held at the home of Mrs. W. A. Martin.

Miss Hatfield Talks To Members Of Naomi Circle

Naomi Circle of Centenary church met at the home of Mrs. Aileen Baptist Jan. 15 at 2 p.m.

The leader, Mrs. Freitag, opened the meeting with the Lord's Prayer. Two guests were present, Miss Laura Hatfield and Janet Hembrough. Miss Hatfield gave a talk on stewardship.

Mrs. Baptist had the program which was dismissed with a prayer. A social period followed. The February meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Dibrell on the 19th.

Local Amvet Post Becomes Tenth Largest In State

Jacksonville AMVET Post 100 held its last regular meeting at the Post Home, 210 E. Court Street, on Tuesday night, Jan. 14, with Commander Ralph Johnson presiding.

Adjutant David Vedder reported that from correspondence received from the State Department, local AMVET Post 100 was the 10th largest AMVET Post in the State of Illinois as of the first of the year.

The following 19 were new and renewal members: Kenneth E. Biggs, Ray Capello, Hal Dean Powell, Clarence E. Sperry, Kenneth L. Lowe, Robert James Curry, Philip E. Bradish, Robert D. Watson, Lloyd Byers, Richard W. Brennan, Henry E. Lipanire, Luman W. Goheen, Walter L. Cummings, Lennie Chaudoin, Melvin Downey, Harold Smith, Francis Clancy, James White and Andrew Pickle, and were accepted into membership for 1958. These additional memberships now bring the membership of Jacksonville AMVET Post to 111% of the entire last year's total membership.

During the meeting it was reported that Amvet Howard Davidson was a surgical patient at Passavant Hospital.

Junior Vice Commander Frank Newby reported on the coming social activities of the Post stating that the next fish fry would be held January 24. He also announced that Bob Sassenberger's Band had been engaged to provide the music for the dance to be held on Washington's Birthday, Feb. 22.

FAN BREEZES

By STAN SPOTTS
Journal Courier Sports Editor

Let the St. Louis Cardinals have Stan "The Man" Musial. Arenzville has Gary Nelson. That's the way Raiders fans feel about "Nellie," whose feats on the gridiron and hardcourt have won him acclaim and praise from all who have seen him perform during the past four years in a Raider uniform. No, Nelson isn't a one man team, he's merely the vital factor in Arenzville's athletic success.

The 5-7 senior, who weighs 155 pounds soaking wet, let his presence be felt once again on the gridiron this past season when he sparked the Raiders to their second straight P.M.S.C. Conference title in the eight-man loop. Gary was selected for Little All-Southern honors and was also named to the first team Little All-State prep eleven. The 17-year-old performer accounted for 192 points by himself this past season plus throwing a lot of TD passes to his favorite target, end Ray Hall. Nelson was a stalwart on defense also as he led the team in assisted and unassisted tackles.

Following the pigskin season, Nelson donned his basketball togs and took over his familiar role as playmaker and sharpshooter for the Raiders. His first outing netted him 36 points, an output Arenzville fans have become accustomed to during Nelson's prep career. Nelson does a lot of scoring but he isn't a ball-hog or a player who wears his arm out trying to score. Instead, he is a fine playmaker and at times you'd think he had perfect split vision when it comes to finding a teammate loose under the basket.

Usually his accurate passing game nets his teammates easy "crip" shots. When Gary is hot, there's no defense to stop him, but if he isn't hitting, he doesn't continue to fire away in hopes of finding his "eye" during that particular contest. This was evident in Arenzville's game with Roodhouse this past week during the Winchester Tourney when the Raiders held Nelson to 12 points, his lowest game output for the season. This didn't phase Nelson. He started his deadly passing game and helped eliminate Roodhouse from the meet.

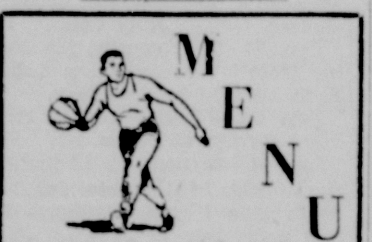

Gary's highest point production for a single contest this season is 43 points. When you stop and consider that he passes off far more points than he could score if he wanted to, then I'd have to say that the Raiders have a real team man, one who is only interested in helping his team win. Last season Nelson tallied 664 points to bring his three year average to 1,164 points. When he completes this season in the cage sport, he's really going to have a total that won't be surpassed in many a moon at Arenzville High. Before the 36th Winchester Tournament got underway, Nelson was averaging better than 26 points a game. The Raiders had played 11 contests prior to the oldest invitational tournament in the state.

"Nellie," the son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Nelson, also competes in track and pitches or plays third base during the baseball campaign. He has participated all four years in football, basketball, baseball and track. Needless to say, coach Don Kemp is going to miss this great performer when he graduates this spring. Nelson seems to be in touch with several colleges and it's doubtful if he'll leave the state. At least that's what Wimp told me Tuesday night at halftime of the Roodhouse-Chanderville game. While collecting this information from the Arenzville mentor, he quite naturally wanted to know what it was for. I merely told him that a college in Colorado wanted a line on Nelson. I didn't want to give away the secret that SeeBee and I were planning our weekly sketch on his prize athlete. I don't believe I did. Also I'd like to thank John Murray for the loan of Nelson's senior picture which gave SeeBee something to go on.

In all sincerity, Gary, we hope your college days will be as illustrious as your prep career has been. If you make a big name for yourself in college or if you don't, it won't make much difference because Arenzville fans as well as others who have seen you perform, will remember Gary Nelson as the little playmaker who could do everything and do it well all during his prep career.

Just a reminder to get your suggestions in quickly for our state-of-the-art sketch contest which closes February 15. After a field day Monday, the selections have been lagging all week. Several of the ones we received are in contention for our five-dollar prize. Maybe your suggestion is better than the ones we're considering. Get it in quickly and let's see.

Elgin Scores Surprise Upset Over E-Rabs, State's Top Quintet

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Elgin scored a surprise victory over top rated East Rookford Friday evening in the No. 1 Illinois high school basketball game on the Associated Press poll its first defeat of the season.

The Rockford club, sporting a 12-game winning streak, was favored to walk away with the match, but Elgin, traditionally tough on their home court, won 57-51. Elgin entered the game with a 6-5 mark.

Elgin grabbed a 6-0 lead at the outset and never fell behind. The Maroons averaged .689, hitting on 75.3 per cent. Flynn Robinson led the victors with 25 points, Ron Carlson was high for East Rookford with 17.

Fourth-ranked Mount Vernon suffered a 69-56 upset at the hands of Centralia. It was the second loss in 14 games for Mount Vernon.

Peoria Spalding, holding down the No. 6 spot, and Lanphier of Springfield, rated 11th, added to their unbeaten records.

Spalding downed Peoria Limestone 58-43 while Lanphier overpowered Feitshans 52-45 in the Springfield city tournament.

Also in the Capital City tourney, Springfield squeezed by Cahoon 43-40.

West Frankfort racked up win No. 14, beating Benton 80-60. West Frankfort, ranked second, has lost only one.

Picking up its 14th triumph, eighth-ranked Rock Falls clobbered Harding 73-41.

Rock Island defeated Washington, Iowa, for the second time this season 71-45. It was the 12th win compared to one loss for Rock Island, which meets Clinton tonight.

Notre Dame of Quincy, facing a stiff challenge from St. Anthony of Effingham Sunday, outpointed its No. 9 ranking with a victory over strong Joliet Catholic 54-48.

Ranked seventh, Pekin defeated Urbana 57-53, picking up its ninth win.

Quincy Wallops IBSSS Matmen

The IBSSS wrestling Warriors were dealt two setbacks over the weekend. Coach Sy Halicz's grapplers lost to Iowa Braille and Sigh School Friday by a close margin, 22-19, and on the return trip were handed a defeat by the Quincy Blue Devils, 36-12.

The locals got off to a poor and extremely slow start in their match at Vinton, Iowa. Losing the first five matches of the weekend. The remaining matches all went to Illinois with one exception but the Halicz-men just couldn't muster enough points to overtake the Iowa lead.

Warrior victories over Iowa all came in the upper weight classes via two falls and three decisions. Co-captain Bill Johnson gained his pin in 74 seconds over his Iowa adversary.

In their meet with Quincy the IBSSS squad looked like a far better team than they did in the Iowa match. Quincy cornered 15 points by forfeit in classes unfilled by the locals.

Three matches were decided by pins and in all events the Warriors demonstrated sterling wrestling skill. All wins for the east-siders came via decision, well earned by Nick Weems, co-captain Gene Schmidt, Larry Donaldson, and Richard Massa.

On Wednesday, Jan. 22, the I.B.S.S.S. matmen will play host to Feitshans High and will follow that with two meets over the weekend.

Big plans are now being made for the N.C.A.S.B. wrestling tournament on Feb. 7 and 8. The Illinois school is host to this year's conference meet to be held at the I.S.D. gym. Tickets can be purchased from members of the Jacksonville Jaycees or IBSSS staff. Coach Halicz's young squad are considered strong contenders for trophy honors in this meet.

Elgin Scores Surprise Upset Over E-Rabs, State's Top Quintet

Spartans Defeat Wildcats, 83-78, Behind Green

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP)—The rebounding and sharpshooting of John Green, who hit for 22 points, headed a well-balanced Michigan State scoring attack Saturday that gave the Spartans an 83-78 Big Ten Basketball victory over Northwestern.

The 6-5 Green retrieved 22 of the Spartans' total 54 rebounds and rammed in 17 of his points in the first half as MSU grabbed a 40-36 lead and never were tied or headed.

With 12 minutes remaining to play, MSU began expanding its lead behind the steady shooting of Jack Quigley, who pumped in nine points in the span. With 53 minutes left, the Spartans were in front 74-59 and it was only in the last four minutes that Northwestern began to creep up.

Jones, who bagged a total of 21 points, Phil Warren and Floyd Campbell led the final Northwestern drive but Quigley, Bob Anderson and Larry Hedden kept the Spartans out of range.

Northwestern's top scorer, 6-5 Joe Ruklick, was hemmed in most of the time and got off only 14 points, more than half of them in the last 10 minutes.

Carrollton Shades Pittsfield, 47-45, For Winchester Title

Hawks Outbid Saukees In 4th Period, Raiders Win Consolation

WINCHESTER — A thrilling contest brought down the final curtain of the 36th annual Winchester Invitational Tournament here Saturday night as Carrollton outscored Pittsfield in the final chapter, 47-45, for a 47-45 triumph that earned the Hawks the tournament crown.

It was a nip and tuck ball game all the way with neither team being able to pull away until Carrollton managed the feat in the closing seconds on a bucket by Dick Smith and a free throw by Gordon Brannan.

Carrollton defeated Arenzville Friday night in the semifinals, 68-60, and Pittsfield tripped Mt. Sterling 60-59 to gain a shot at the championship.

The two championship teams finished the way they were supposed to. The Hawks were rated number one and the Saukees number two.

Pittsfield fell behind at the outset 18-12, but the Saukees came back in the second frame for a 24-23 gap at halftime.

The score stood at 32-31 after three quarters and it was just a

The Pekin Regional tourney is one of the toughest in the State with four top teams entered including Peoria Spalding coached by Jim Smarjeske, former Routt high mentor, Pekin, East Peoria and Limestone. The winner of this one will advance to the strong Canton Sectional meet and this is Canton's first Sectional tourney since 1949. Coach Smarjeske's Spalding five is rated number four in the United Press poll and in sixth spot in the Associated Press poll of January 14.

Ed Sanderson's 15 for the Saukees matched Carter's output. On Kemp's Arenzville Raiders with Joe Stinson's 29 points show the way defeated Brown County High of Mt. Sterling with a fourth quarter surge, 84-73, to claim the consolation prize.

Mt. Sterling had the ball game for the first three quarters but faded late in the last canto while the Raiders burned the nets for a 26-point period.

Ed Test topped Mt. Sterling's scoring with 20 tallies. Russell Wilson, tournament manager and principal of Winchester High, awarded the cheerleading trophy to Mt. Sterling and presented the sportsmanship award to George Lemons' East Pike (Milton) quintet.

Wilson turned over the awarding of the first four place trophies to Winchester High's cheerleaders. The Wildcat "yell-leaders" made the respective awards to the captains of all four winning clubs.

Veteran Al Lopez Tops Managers In Won-Lost Column

By BEN OLAN

NEW YORK (AP)—There may or may not be better big league baseball managers than Al Lopez, but the veteran Chicago White Sox pilot has at least one factor in his favor.

He has the highest lifetime won-lost percentage among current major league mentors.

Covering six seasons with the Cleveland Indians and the last one with the White Sox, Lopez' clubs have won 660 regular season games and lost only 418 for a .612 mark. Al led Cleveland to the American League pennant in 1954. In every other year his teams finished in second place behind Casey Stengel's New York Yankees.

Stengel, of course, has put together a noteworthy record with the American League champions. Since joining them in 1949, Casey has won 881 games and lost 502 for .637. He has collected eight pennants in nine years.

But Stengel's so-so tenure with the Boston Braves and the Brooklyn Dodgers in the 1930s reduces his overall managerial average to .539—good for only fourth place in the lifetime rankings. Casey managed the Dodgers for three seasons and the Braves for six and had a combined National League record of 602-767 (.440).

Walter Alston, who has spent four years with the Dodgers, ranks right behind Lopez with a .567 mark. His clubs have recorded 567 victories and 348 setbacks while winning two pennants and picking up one second place and one third.

In three campaigns with the Boston Red Sox, during which they have finished fourth twice and third the other time, Pinky Higgins has compiled a .250-212 mark for .541. He is in the No. 3 position followed by Stengel and Birdie Tebbetts of the Cincinnati Reds.

Tebbetts, who was voted the National League's manager of the year in 1956, has won 320 games and lost 296 for a .519 mark in four seasons.

The only other managers over .500 are Paul Richards of the Baltimore Orioles and Jack Tighe of the Detroit Tigers. Danny Murtagh, who took the Pittsburgh Pirates last Aug. 3, led the Pirates to a 26-26 mark for the remainder of the campaign.

HAWKINS A JUNIOR NOW

South Bend, Ind. (AP)—Notre Dame basketball star Tom Hawkins, who set an Irish record of 576 points as a sophomore last season, is even better this season, says Coach John Jordan. Hawkins, a 6-foot-5 jumping jack, last year was called by Jordan "the best sophomore in Notre Dame basketball history."

Eison Leads Boilermakers To Victory

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Purdue's Boilermakers took Wisconsin's zone defense apart with rebound-and-run tactics Saturday night and defeated the Badger basketball team, 62-47. Purdue pulled even in Big Ten play, 2-2, and Wisconsin was left with a 2-3 league record. Skinny, 6-foot-5 Jake Eison was outstanding in Purdue's board-clearing operations that enabled the Boilermakers to break down the floor before the Badgers could set up their zone. He took 19 rebounds and was high scorer with 19 points.

Bill Greve added 17 points to the Purdue total and Bob Litzow was high for Wisconsin with only 10.

Buckeyes Beat Gophers, 95-79, To Even Record

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio State's Buckeyes put their height to good use Saturday night, snaring rebounds and scoring on tips to beat Minnesota, 95-79, at even their Big Ten basketball record at 2-2.

The Gophers' George Klie, one of the Big Ten's scoring leaders, managed only eight points in the opening half but finished with 18 for the evening.

Scoring honors went to Ohio State's Jim Laughlin, who garnered 23 points, just edging Minnesota's leader, Ron Johnson, who had 22.

The Buckeyes, who picked up only their third victory in 12 starts, broke through Minnesota's defense time and again to get close-in shots and layups.

Ohio State, sinking 36 of 70 shots from the field, wound up with a 47 per cent shooting average, compared to Minnesota's 29 of 79 and 36 per cent.

The loss gave Minnesota a 1-2 conference and 6-6 over-all mark.

NBA All-Star Tilt Will Be Extension Of Hawks-Celtics Rivalry

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The annual National Basketball Assn. all-star game will be an extension of the hot St. Louis-Boston rivalry to many fans in a St. Louis crowd of an expected 15,000 next Tuesday night.

The hot-tempered coach of the NBA champion Boston Celtics, Red Auerbach, will coach the 10-man Eastern squad which includes three Boston pros, the most any one club can have under the rules.

Piercy Alex Hannum, St. Louis Hawks coach, leads the Western team which has three St. Louis players.

Auerbach and Hannum were opposing coaches in the bitterly-contested championship playoffs last year and their teams currently lead their divisions by comfortable margins.

The Western team includes Detroit's George Yardley, the NBA's top scorer. But the East, with a slight edge in height and experience, probably will be favored to take their sixth victory in eight years.

A&M STUDENTS ASSURE MYERS OF THEIR SUPPORT

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Some 4,000 students of Texas A&M Saturday sent a telegram to Iowa State football coach Jim Myers assuring him of their support of Myers to become Aggie football coach and athletic director.

Myers had been approved for the dual job by the A&M faculty athletic council. He withdrew when the college's board of directors' athletic committee delayed action and sought without success to interest Navy coach Eddie Erdelatz in the job.

Student leaders who solicited signatures to the telegram said they still hoped that Myers would become A&M coach.

MacKay Wins Two Rounds Despite 1 Hour's Sleep

SYDNEY (AP)—Barry MacKay, slambang American find of the 1957 Davis Cup challenge, won his two first round matches of the Australian national tennis tournament Saturday after only one hour's sleep.

MacKay, 22, a 6-foot, 4-inch giant from Dayton, Ohio, spent from midnight to midday looking after his team mate, Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn, stricken with acute appendicitis.

Then MacKay, having seen Holmberg safely through the emergency operation, raced to the courts where he quickly disposed of Wayne Reid, an Australian with a service as fierce as his own, 6-2, 6-2, in singles.

After 10 more than an hour's rest he paired with Mike Green of Cincinnati's two big men, Maurice Stokes and Jack Tryman, to go with Larry Foust of Minneapolis, a six-game veteran, and his own top scorers, Bob Pettit and Cliff Hagan.

The hospital reported Holmberg was sleeping and getting along well.

In the next round of the singles Tuesday MacKay clashes with fifth-seeded Australian Roy Emerson, who beat him in the New South Wales title play in November.

THREE GIANTS SET RECORDS

NEW YORK (AP)—Three New York Football Giants set all club records in 1957. Ben Agajanian set three new marks with his kicking.

He kicked a 50-yard field goal to beat Ken Strong's 47-yarder. He passed Strong in most extra points, 162 to 147. He ran his string in a row. Strong's mark was 80.

Frank Gifford is top Giant in scoring with 35 touchdowns in six seasons. Former fullback Bill Paschal was the leader with 29. Gifford also set a record by catching 11 forward passes in one game. Kyle Rote passed Frank Liebel in most touchdown passes caught, 25 to 24.

The big surprise was that Inacio was able to stay the 10 rounds with the champion. But with his youth, height and longer reach he was able to last against the heavier and slower Moore.

Moore Defeats Louis Inacio In Brazil Bout

SAO PAULO, Brazil (AP)—World light heavyweight champion Archie Moore Saturday night won a 10-round non-title decision over Brazilian titleholder Louis Inacio in the biggest fight ever held in Brazil. Moore weighed 190, Inacio 179.

Moore simply had too much experience for the Brazilian, who had been promised a shot at the light heavyweight title if he won Inacio put up a good fight but he had no answer to Moore's know-how.

Frank Gifford is top Giant in scoring with 35 touchdowns in six seasons. Former fullback Bill Paschal was the leader with 29. Gifford also set a record by catching 11 forward passes in one game. Kyle Rote passed Frank Liebel in most touchdown passes caught, 25 to 24.

Harry Grayson's SCOREBOARD

By HARRY GRAYSON
NEA Sports Editor

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (NEA)—"Ah'm gonna call two people and we'll have a basketball coach," Jim Tatum announced in his office at the University of Maryland one day in 1950. "Ah'm gonna call Adolph Rupp and Henry Iba."

Rupp's line was busy at Kentucky. But the call got through to Iba and a few days later, Bud Millikan, a product of his Oklahoma A. and M. coaching, left a high school job at Newton, Ia., and came to College Park.

He found a small gymnasium at his disposal, and not much else. No scholarships and worse, no interest. A crowd of 150 showed up for Millikan's debut and he shook his head. "We had five times this many at Iowa high school games," he said.

This year, Millikan can be found in a 15,000-seat Maryland arena that loses any coliseum ever seen by this observer. And he has a team which, off its easy victory over North Carolina, last year's undefeated NCAA champions, must be considered one of the nation's best.

Millikan did a building job which in a bit more than seven years put Maryland on a par with Kansas, Cincinnati, San Francisco, Kentucky and the rest of the country's basketball powers.

There was a lot more to it than that. There was, as mentioned above, James Moore Tatum. Millikan today bravely insists, "I always knew our program was going to get better." But as long as Tatum was at the school basketball was going to get nowhere.

In tracing Maryland's rise, you get a good clinical analysis of why few schools fielding a pressure football team do well in other sports. Tatum put out a big team at Maryland.

His attitude toward everything else was simple. The school at one time had boxing and Jim disbanded it.

"Boxing can't seat but 4,000 and they're all students so it eats up the football profits," Jim decided. "And every time a boxing team goes on the road and loses the coach comes back and says he lost because of officiating. Our team goes down to Louisiana State and loses, 7-1, and the coach squawks that he got robbed."

"I'm trying to schedule a football game with LSU and this guy starts squawking about them robbing him."

Tatum's attitude carried over to basketball. So Millikan moved along with, now and then, a partial scholarship for a good kid, such as Gene Shue, now with the Detroit Pistons.

Every athletic dollar the school had found its way to Tatum's football program and that's the way it was going to stay. Then two things happened and from nowhere Millikan and his basketball team became a headline item.

One was President Curly Byrd's idea of getting a new arena. Athletic-minded Byrd got it built. About the same time, Tatum decided to return to "his folks" at North Carolina.

Millikan, three seasons ago, was given his quota of full scholarships. It takes about that long for a coach to prove himself and this season his well-trained, well-recruited Terps show he has the goods. His 6-8½ sophomore, Al Bunge, is a name to remember.

Dees Scores 33 But Iowa Defeats Indiana, 79-75

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—Iowa smashed a great Indiana rally and shook the Hoosiers from first place in the Big Ten basketball race 79-75 Saturday night.

The Hoosiers were down by 10 points at the intermission and saw that deficit increased to 14 points with only 2:15 played.

But big Archie Dees, the conference's leading scorer, played brilliantly in a rally that saw Indiana tie the game at 55-55 in the space of 2:43 as the Hoosiers blanked Iowa while putting in 10 points.

Dees' outstanding shooting produced 33 points and he captured 19 rebounds. Gunther again paced the Hawkeyes with 22.

504 Offer Blood To Break All Previous Bloodmobile Records

By Mrs. John H. DuBois

The Bloodmobile's visit this past week was a smashing success.

Morgan County residents flocked to the Masonic Temple to give blood. Many without appointments had to be turned away. A total of 504 donors were processed resulting in 458 pints of usable blood deposited in the National Red Cross Blood Bank. This surpassed the quota set for Morgan County by 158 pints.

"The best turn-out of donors on record" commented Mrs. Carroll Houston, executive secretary of the Morgan County Red Cross Chapter.

Inquest Into Doctor's Death To Be Next Week

JERSEYVILLE — An inquest into the death of Dr. Lloyd W. Harris of the Godfrey vicinity will be held the latter part of next week, according to Coroner Rodney C. Jacoby of Jerseyville.

Dr. Harris was killed in an automobile accident seven miles southwest of Jerseyville about 9 p.m. Thursday when the car he was driving skidded on the slippery pavement on Route 109 and went out of control. The car collided with several guard posts at the east side of the highway and crashed into a tree on the west side of the highway.

Jacoby Brothers ambulance brought Dr. Harris to the Jersey Community Hospital where he was pronounced dead upon arrival. Reports indicate that he had died in the accident from a neck fracture.

Dr. Harris was well known in the Jersey county vicinity where he had owned real estate in the Brighton locality. Several years ago he sold his farm interests in the Brighton area to the Owens Illinois Company for a research project.

FORMER JERSEYVILLE BUSINESS MAN DIES IN AMARILLO, TEX.

JERSEYVILLE — Frederick William Heller, 81, former Jerseyville business man, died Dec. 28 in the Thurston Rest home in Amarillo, Texas, according to word received Friday by his cousin, Mrs. Lena Devening of Jerseyville, from Miss Helen Heller of Pasadena, Calif., a niece of the deceased.

Mr. Heller was born in Jerseyville, April 1, 1876, the son of Henry Heller and Mena Mayland Heller of this city. He was a dairyman in Jerseyville for many years and then operated an ice plant here. In 1945 he and Mrs. Heller moved to Amarillo and then to Canyon where he was employed by the Myers Farm Equipment Co.

He retired in 1949 and for a short time resided with his uncle, the late Dr. George Ingham, Oral surgeon, and Mrs. Ingham in Amarillo, before entering the rest home. His wife, Mrs. Kittie Heller, died in 1952. She was a cousin of the late Frank E. Stelle of Jerseyville.

Mr. Heller is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Thomas F. Marshall of Pasadena, Calif., and Mrs. Clara Nash of Alhambra, Calif., and several nieces and nephews.

21 Pay Fines As Radar Spots Fast Driving

Use of radar equipment by the Jacksonville police department day and night, resulted in a large number of speeding tickets during the past few days. A total of 21 defendants to speeding charges were fined Saturday morning in the court of Police Magistrate Fred Daniels, all on pleas of guilty.

One check in payment for a fine was marked "paid under protest."

Most of the arrests for speeding took place in 25-mile-per-hour zones. There are some 20 and 30 mile zones on streets which are state routes.

The following defendants were fined $10 each for speeding:

Harriet Hansmeier, E. D. Crowcroft, Harold Stewart, Carrell Stinner, Gordon May, Gary Leil, James Reynolds, Melvin Horn, Dale Smith, Leland Rob, John Kurtz, William Cochran, W. H. McNece, Betty Gotschall, Floyd Peters, Vince Tobin, Mrs. E. C. Bone, Mrs. B. C. Webster, Clarence Esenberger.

Those fined $12 for speeding were Lambert Brookhouse and Lyle Ballard.

James Ambrose was fined $35 for reckless driving; Byron Joe Pond $10 for having a noisy muffler; James Carter, $15 for driving too fast for conditions; R. A. Morris, Jr., $5 for failure to appear for traffic summons.

Four were fined for parking in restricted zones.

Kirby Sr., of this city, died Aug. 27 of the past year and a sister, Miss Ella Mae Kirby also preceded him in death.

He had been an invalid for a number of years and prior to his illness, he was engaged in the dairy business in the Champaign vicinity.

Patrolmen Runkel and Smith attended at the scene.

Damage to both autos was minor.

Pittsfield Woman Dies At Trailer Camp In Quincy

PITTSFIELD — Mrs. Dorothy Branch Brown, 47, of Pittsfield, died in a trailer cottage at 413 Vermont street in Quincy, Thursday evening at 9:47 o'clock. Edward O'Connor, who summoned the police ambulance after discovering that she was dead, told officers that Mrs. Brown had prepared her supper and had seemed in her usual health at the time. She lay down to rest about 8 p.m. and was later found dead.

Dorothy Branch Brown was born in Pittsfield the daughter of the late Harry Branch and Mrs. Laura Glecker Branch, and had lived in Pittsfield most of her life. She was first married to Robert Gordley of St. Sterling, from whom she was divorced, and later married to Mr. Brown. They lived in Chicago for a time until they too were divorced. A son, Robert Gordley, Jr., died in Germany near the close of World War Two.

She was employed for a time at Macy's in New York and more recently had operated a laundry in this city.

She is survived by her mother, and one sister, Mrs. Ruth Kern of north of Pittsfield.

The body is at the Plattner funeral home. Funeral services will be held at the home of her mother on Kellogg street in this city at 10 a.m. Monday. Burial will be in the West cemetery.

The body will be taken from the funeral home to the residence Sunday morning.

Beardstown Police Officer, Former Cop Held For Burglaries

BEARDSTOWN, Ill. — Police Officer Kenneth Dotzert, 38, and Floyd Treadway, 36, a former police officer, were in two jails yesterday to answer charges of burglary of Beardstown business establishments.

The defendants are said to have admitted complicity in 10 burglaries committed last spring in which a large amount of loot was carried from local stores.

Both men were members of the city police department at the time of the burglaries. Chief of Police Jerry Kiser has been engaged in an investigation, which led to arrest of the policeman and former policeman.

Some of the stolen goods has been recovered, officials reported Saturday. Dotzert is held in the Cass county jail at Virginia, Treadway is in the Beardstown city jail.

Chief Kiser was waiting with a warrant when Dotzert reported for duty in uniform at 4 p.m. Friday at the city hall. The chief was joined by Sheriff Harold Ellsworth of Virginia in serving the warrant.

Treadway who was released as patrolman Dec. 15, was arrested by Chief Deputy Howard Osmer and Patrolman Jack Chism when he returned home from rabbit hunting, about 5:30 p.m. Friday.

Investigating officials said the two prisoners admitted burglaries of Montgomery Ward store, where radios, phonographs, tools, fishing equipment, tires, and other merchandise was taken.

Other burglaries allegedly committed by Dotzert and Treadway occurred at the Tip Top Cleaners, Long Grocery, Gamble store, Huss Clothing, Vredenburg Lumber Company, Sinclair Oil Co. warehouse, Davis and Mason establishments.

Asa W. Kroush, Former Steel Worker, Dies

Asa William Kroush, a lifelong resident of Morgan county, passed away at 2:05 p.m. Saturday at Passavant hospital where he had been a patient for 14 days.

Mr. Kroush was born March 7, 1879, at Union Star, Ky., the son of Peter and Jane Wheeler Kroush. He was married to Mayme Jolly who preceded him in death. He then married Nellie Fuller, who also preceded him in death in 1953.

The following children survive: Franklin Kroush, Jacksonville; Earl Kroush, Jerico Springs, Mo.; Mrs. Marjorie Surber, Indianapolis, Ind.; Mrs. Millie Hitt, Jacksonville; Mrs. Doris Pack, Indianapolis; Mrs. Irma Pilkington, White Hall. He is also survived by one brother, George Kroush, Union Star, Ky., twelve grandchildren and several nieces and nephews. One son, Avery, three brothers and three sisters preceded him in death.

For a number of years Mr. Kroush was employed at the Illinois Steel Bridge Company. He was a member of the Pisgah Baptist church.

The remains are at the Cody and Son Memorial Home where the family will meet friends on Sunday evening from 7 to 9 p.m.

Funeral services will be held Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Memorial Home with Dr. Frank Marston officiating. Burial will be in the Jacksonville East cemetery.

Most pores of the body are concentrated on the palms of the hands, soles of the feet and the scalp.

Thieves Loot Coop-Reject Lone Survivor

The eternal triangle took on a "new look" last night when the police department received a report at 11:02 p.m. from Lloyd Massey, 336 Pine St., that two chickens were missing — along with the metal coop.

Patrolmen Armstrong and Spain made an investigation at the scene to determine whether the lone chicken roosting on Mr. Massey's back porch was overlooked by thieves or a rejected suitor in a love triangle. Both officers concluded that thieves must have looted the metal coop and were not hungry enough for a large feast or else could not catch the other bird.

Mr. Massey said he had just purchased the chickens Saturday fresh from the country.

Rock Island Sues To Throw Out '57 Tax Multiplier

ROCK ISLAND, Ill. (AP) — Rock Island County sued in Circuit Court Saturday to throw out the 1957 tax base assigned to it by the Illinois Department of Revenue.

The complaint charged that the department and its director, Richard J. Lyons, have sought illegally to increase taxes exceeding their administrative authority to equalize property valuations in the various counties.

Charles Miller, assistant Rock Island state's attorney, said the suit seeks a declaratory judgment to Set aside the 1957 tax multiplier assigned to the county.

Order that 1958 tax bills be based upon 1957 valuations made by the Rock Island County board of review.

Restrain the state from interfering with collections under the board of review valuations.

Compel the state revenue body to revise its tax multiplier for 1957 to comply with "Legislative intent" of the state revenue act.

The suit, filed in the name of the county and Harold Johnson, county clerk, asserts that the department of revenue has raised the tax multiplier for this year's billings approximately 10 per cent.

This was done, the suit says, by increasing the tax multiplier from 1.039 for 1956 taxes to 1.364 for 1957. The 1957 taxes are those to be collected this year.

Under the state revenue act the state department of revenue was given the responsibility of adjusting tax assessments in the various counties to equalize the actual tax bases throughout the state.

The object of the provision was to establish a fair tax base for county.

Director Lyons, reached at his Libertyville home, commented: "All we're doing is administering the law in the manner the Legislature provided by statute."

Lyons said that the Legislature last year adopted an amendment providing for narrowing of equalization to townships, rather than counties, on the 1958 taxes, which will be collected in 1959.

"I think the difficulty lies," he said, "in the wide disparity of assessments within the counties. Property in some townships is assessed at a level far closer to fair value than it is in other townships. When you have to raise the Multiplier county-wide, the result is an inequity which hurts the property owner in the township with the more realistic assessment."

Relocation of State Route 104 will eliminate much through travel from Jacksonville streets. State Route 104 now follows West Walnut street, North and South Main streets and Morton avenue.

When the belt line is completed all State 104 traffic will move through the city on Morton avenue.

The East Morton avenue improvement has been divided by the state department into several projects, which are listed as follows:

U. S. 36, four lane pavement, South Main street to Hardin avenue in Jacksonville, construction $55,000; right-of-way $65,000.

U. S. 36, four lane pavement from east corporate limits of Jacksonville to one mile east of SBI 104, construction $48,000; right-of-way and grade separation $75,000.

Underpass On East Morton
U. S. 36 four lane pavement from east corporate limits of Jacksonville, west to Hardin avenue, construction $277,000 (including underpass) and $48,000 construction and right-of-way.

U. S. 67, widening Snake Creek bridge, north of Jacksonville, $34,000.

SBI 104 resurfacing two miles west of Chapin to one-half west of Mauvaisterre creek, $258,000 construction, $11,000 construction. SBI 104 resurfacing 71 miles east of Mauvaisterre to PA 92, $290,000 and $7,000.

U. S. 67 bituminous resurfacing 5.40 miles south of Cass county line to 69 mile north of Jacksonville, $10,000.

Illinois SBI 104 bituminous surface east to 2 miles west of Chapin, $9,000.

Illinois SBI 104 bituminous surface 50 miles west of Mauvaisterre east to 71 miles east of Mauvaisterre creek, $3,000.

Illinois Route 123 bridge, 9.73 miles north of U. S. Route 36, $30,000.

U. S. 36 new overhead over C. B. & O. near Junction of U. S. 36 and SBI 104 one mile east of Jacksonville, $168,000.

State Lists E. Morton Widening, Rt. 104 Belt Line As 1958 Projects

State highway projects calling for an estimated expenditure of $1,652,000 are scheduled to be started in the Jacksonville community this year, including the widening of East Morton avenue and relocation of State Route 104, west of the city.

Details of the huge improvement program were set forth in a printed proposed improvement program for the primary highway system calendar year 1958, issued by the Illinois Department of Public Works and Buildings, Division of Highways.

Two new overheads and an underpass, and several bridges, are on the highway construction agenda—probably the biggest highway improvement program ever scheduled for one year in the Jacksonville community.

Each major project has been developing several years. The widening of East Morton avenue has been urged by civic and business interests for a long time, especially since the four-laning of West Morton avenue about four years ago. The State Route 104 belt line, connecting it with U. S. Highways 36-54, has been on the drawing boards for a considerable time.

Projects Await Call For Bids
County Highway Supt. Melvin J. Benscoter yesterday said he believes that most of the projected work in the Jacksonville area will be put under contract during 1958, and that much actual construction will be in progress this spring and summer.

Both the county highway office and Chamber of Commerce have been active in forwarding the highway expansion program. Supt. Benscoter is in frequent communication with the state department regarding highway work, and the Chamber of Commerce highway committee has conferred with state officials concerning local plans.

Chamber of Commerce officials said yesterday agreements have been reached with about 75 per cent of property owners on East Morton avenue.

Big Payrolls For Construction
Construction work scheduled for this year is regarded as a valuable asset to the community economic life, as it will release large payrolls in many lines of work.

Labeled FA-92 by the Illinois Division of Highways, an overland will be built over the Washburn railroad west of the city to carry traffic when State 104 is rerouted. Cost of the overland is listed as $85,000. An underpass will be built under old U. S. 36 (Mound avenue) also at an estimated cost of $85,000.

A two lane pavement from the present location of State Route 104 west of this city to U. S. 36-54, commonly known as the belt line, will require an expenditure of $35,000.

Trace Route Of Belt Line
According to the right-of-way maps prepared by the Division of Highways, the State Route 104 belt line will be about one-fourth mile west of the curve near Passavant hospital, and form a junction with U. S. 36-54 a short distance west of the Howard Johnson restaurant. The proposed right-of-way extends through land owned by Charles Hadden H. Yates Potter, and Howard Stevenson.

Relocation of State Route 104 will eliminate much through travel from Jacksonville streets. State Route 104 now follows West Walnut street, North and South Main streets and Morton avenue.

When the belt line is completed all State 104 traffic will move through the city on Morton avenue.

Longer, Wider Now - You Can't Recognize The Old 'Corn Belt'

The farm editor believes the following article, which was written by Arthur W. Haas, Brown county farm adviser, and which appeared in his extension periodical, "Dates & Data," deserves wider readership.

Commercial Corn Area Has Growing Pains! Some weeks ago the United States Department of Agriculture made its formal annual announcement of the acreage allotment for 1958 for the commercial corn belt. They set it at 38,818,381 which is a step-up of a little more than half a million acres over the one for 1957.

The official explanation for the increase is that they added 38 counties to the 894 they had designated a year ago and in so doing, besides adding parts of two southern states never before included (Florida and South Carolina), they doubled the number of Georgia and Alabama counties, as well as increasing Virginia's participation by 50%.

May I quote excerpts from an article I recently read: "Two years ago, there were only 840 counties cataloged as being 'commercial' by the Department. In the meantime, 92 more counties have been added—a net increase of 11%. The present commercial corn area covers 26 states—all or in part. Twenty years ago, there were only 12 states that both the grain trade and the government designated as 'surplus producers' of corn—known generally as the 'North Central' group and year-in and year-out, growing 80% of this country's corn crop.

If you took a United States map and placed one leg of a compass at Burlington, Iowa, and drew a circle with a 300 mile radius, you would have included all—and more too—of the area in which corn was grown in surplus quantities in these United States prior to Federal Control programs. Now look at the changed picture. Using Burlington again, lengthen your radius so as to take in Mississippi, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, the Carolinas and even Virginia—all south of the Mason and Dixon line—all heavy participants in governmental largesse for getting out of the cotton-raising business and as 'cotton states.'

Most of the counties newly designated as commercial corn counties are in states that have not commonly been thought of as 'corn states.' On the contrary they have often been referred to as 'cotton states.'

Illinois Farmers Outlook Letter

BUSINESS RECESSION AND AGRICULTURE

Many farmers are asking how the business recession will affect them. The answer to their question depends upon (1) how long the recession lasts, (2) how severe it becomes, (3) what the farmer is producing, and (4) what the government does to protect the farmer from the effects of reduced consumer spending for food and other farm products. This discussion concerns the length and severity of depressions. The other questions will be discussed at a later time.

Many businesses run in waves or cycles. Periods of much and little activity tend to follow one another. There seem to be cycles in the production of shoes, clothing, automobiles and construction. The cycles in shoes, clothing and automobiles seem to be fairly short—two or three years. The cycle in construction is much longer—perhaps 20 to 25 years.

Some industries are depressed at any given time. If several industries are depressed at one time, we have a minor recession, or a "rolling readjustment." If many industries get into trouble at the same time, we have a major depression.

A major depression began about 11 years after the Civil War and also 11 years after World War I. The present recession began 12 years after World War II. No two depressions, however, are exactly alike.

From 1929 to 1941

The major depression after World War I was the worst in our history. It began in 1929 and lasted until the big spending for World War II began in 1941. Half of the factory workers and three-fourths of the construction workers were unemployed during much of that time.

Most major depressions are like the epidemic "they are world-wide. The depression of 1930 was greatly aggravated by many bank failures. Our present banking system is much more depression resistant than that of 30 years ago.

Short, minor recessions have occurred every few years. There have been two since World War II. One was in 1949-50, the other in 1954. These are largely "inventory" recessions. Stocks of merchandise became too large. Some workers were laid off but consumers kept buying, and after a few months the workers were called back. Few individual workers, however, were off the payroll for more than a few weeks.

Some Plants Overbuilt

The present recession is in part an inventory recession. But it may be more. Our oil wells and mines seem to be overdeveloped, for a while at least. Many of our factories, from steel mills to auto plants, may be overbuilt. Reduced spending for new plants and equipment is a factor in all major recessions.

Increased government spending for defense may help to pull us out of this recession, as it did the recession of 1949-50. At the least, however, it will be several months before employment and payrolls get back up to boom levels.

It is not possible to accurately forecast government action at this time. National defense considerations are being given much attention. But the coming elections, in 1958 and 1960, also are receiving attention. And a divided government—one party in control of the legislative branch and the other in control of the executive branch—does not make for the best governmental responsibility.

Feed Conference At U. Of I. Jan. 30

More than 300 agricultural scientists and members of the feed industry are expected at the sixth annual Feed and Nutrition Conference at the University of Illinois on Thursday, Jan. 30.

Program topics for the morning session include chemical analysis of feeds and their implications, a check assay for evaluating protein supplements, the amino acid story for swine and phosphorus supplements and their availability.

Guests at the afternoon session will hear about the nutritional aspects of feeding high-moisture corn, improvement of dairy cattle feeding, a panel discussion of pelleting feeds for livestock and poultry, recent developments in ruminant nutrition and the use of tranquilizers in the livestock industry.

Registration for the conference begins at 8:00 a.m. in the Illinois Union ballroom. T. S. Hamilton, associate director of the Illinois Agricultural Experiment Station, Urbana, is scheduled to welcome the conference visitors. Alvin Lovekamp, New Berlin feed manufacturer, who is president of the Illinois Feed Association, also will help to open the program.

Guest speakers on the program include S. W. Hinners, Southern Illinois University; M. B. Gillis, International Minerals and Chemical Corporation; W. M. Benson, Purdue University; and O. G. Bentley, Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station.

University of Illinois staff members on the program will be Joseph Kistelic, D. E. Becker, K. E. Harshbarger, A. H. Jensen, R. J. Webb, K. E. Gardner, F. C. Hinds and A. B. Hoerlein.

BROWN COUNTY SOIL GROUP MEETS

The 10th annual meeting of the Brown County Soil Conservation district was held Jan. 9 at the Community building in Versailles, by the Versailles Home Bureau unit serving a ham dinner to the 150 persons attending.

Ira Forsythe, vice chairman, presided; the chairman, Harold Hoelscher, was on vacation in California at the time.

Rev. Bartels played a variety of piano selections and the speaker of the evening was Rev. William Stauffer of Sugar Creek, Ohio, who has been termed "The Soil Conservation Evangelist."

He told of his experiences of rebuilding an eroded and run-down farm by using known conservation techniques.

Three directors, Roy Saxer, Marshall Cox and Harold Hoelscher, were reelected to serve three year terms.

Best way to give dairy cows the salt they need is to add 13 pounds of it to each 100 pounds of grain mixture when you grind the feed, Johnson adds. Cows should also have constant free-choice access to salt.

High-quality legume roughage and a balanced concentrate mixture will normally supply the cows with all the calcium, phosphorus and other minerals they need. But they may not be getting enough minerals if you are feeding them non-legume or low-quality roughages and no protein supplement.

Add both calcium and phosphorus to the ration by including steamed bonemeal at the rate of 13 pounds to each 100 pounds of grain mixture.

Either 14 pounds of good legume hay or 20 pounds of corn silage a day will meet the daily needs for vitamin A, the specialist adds.

Field-cured hay and a few hours of sunshine supply daily needs for vitamin D. Other vitamins that dairy cows need are produced by the rumen bacteria, and it is not necessary to add these vitamins to the feed.

Farmers have until Jan. 31 to submit sealed proposals to the Illinois ASC committee stating what annual rent they will accept to keep their entire farms out of production for a five or ten year period. This experimental program is being tried out by the Department of Agriculture in Maine, Tennessee, Illinois and Nebraska.

More than 4300 farmers bought and planted some 81 million trees and shrubs from Missouri Conservation Commission nurseries during 1957 planting season.

Owners of slow-draining gray prairie soils with moderate loess covering averaged about $12 an acre.

Owners of the lowest producing gray prairie soils with thin loess covering netted only $8.93.

Special Problem Now

Owners renting their land face a special problem in making bids. Reiss points out that rental agreements for 1958 have been made. Tenants will have little chance to find other land so that they can use their machinery, equipment and labor.

So a reasonable bid by a landlord should include a payment to the tenant for depreciation and interest on his unused machinery and equipment and some payment toward living costs for his unused labor.

Owner-operators face a similar problem with their unused machinery, equipment and labor. After this year operators would not face this problem, since they could find other employment and uses for their labor and capital equipment.

Finds Most Dairy Feeds Are Low In Salt

Morgan 4-H Ag Committee Reorganizes

Charles J. Williamson, rural route 5, Jacksonville, was elected chairman of the 4-H county committee at a meeting held at Farm Bureau hall last Monday evening.

He succeeds Cary Strang of Murrayville, who is retiring from the committee.

Other members are Harold Hamel, rural route 2; Robert W. Houston, route 1; LeRoy Sweet, Franklin; Warren Lakamp, route 1, and David Hembrough, route 5.

Assistant Farm Adviser Bob Hayward announces that there will be a reorganizational meeting of the Meredosia Redi-Workers 4-H Agricultural club at the Meredosia High school vocational agriculture building on Wednesday evening, Jan. 29. The new leaders will be Bob Werries and Glenn Alhorn. Parents and relatives of members, or prospective members, are invited to attend.

The county's 4-H agricultural club leaders will meet at Farm Bureau hall Thursday evening, Jan. 30, at 7 p.m. to discuss the 1958 activity and project school programs.

The hog-corn ratio, which is the bushels of corn equal in value of prices received by Illinois farmers on Dec. 15, at 236, was six points above the level of a month ago. The all crops index was five points higher than a month ago while the index of livestock and livestock products was seven points more than last month. The Dec. 15, all commodity index, at 236 percent of the 1910-14 base, was 13 points or six percent above the level of December of 1956.

The prices received for the major grains improved during the past month. At 187 percent of the base average, the current all crops index is, however, 25 points or 12 percent below the level of a year ago. Hog prices at mid-month were $1.40 higher than on Nov. 15. The index of livestock and livestock products, at 262 percent of the base was 33 points or 14 percent above the level of last year.

Healthful Self-Criticism

A nation which maintains its capacity for self-criticism at high levels has a basically healthful outlook which ought to stand in good stead in any crisis. The Rockefeller Fund report warning us of the perils of a serious arms lag represents good, constructive self-examination.

Not in many years has the United States heard two such stern warnings as are set forth in this private, unofficial appraisal of our position and in the official, but still largely secret, Gaither report made to President Eisenhower.

The Rockefeller report, the product of 18 months' dedicated soul-searching by distinguished former military leaders and industrialists, flatly predicts that if we do not move swiftly and massively to correct our lag, the Soviet bloc will by 1960 hold the balance of world power.

No weighty voices are being raised in this country today against the report's recommendation that big new defense outlays are required. The administration's new budget proposals already acknowledge this necessity in a substantial way.

There will be sharp differences of opinion on the size of the increase needed. In this respect, obviously, neither the Rockefeller report nor the Gaither survey nor any single appraisal will necessarily represent the last word.

Nor will any of these reports be immune to criticisms as to many of their detailed recommendations. Some, for example, are speedily attacking suggestions in the Rockefeller report to create a kind of super military chief of staff to solve the Pentagon's difficulties of duplication, waste, and delay in decision.

But the important thing is that public-spirited men have devoted their minds, their energies and their resources to an intensive scrutiny of America's status. What they have to say will properly and inevitably find a prominent place in the broad debate now shaping up on America's future course of action.

Their work is a tribute to the vigor and the hard-headed sanity of a free people in what we must all hope is a passing moment of adversity.

Brighter Educational Picture

So much of the talk about U.S. education is gloomy stuff that it is good once in a while to be able to sound a cheerful note.

The National Industrial Conference Board, in one of its pictorial charts, shows that educational levels in the American labor force have been definitely on the rise in the last two decades.

In 1940, just 13.4 per cent of the then much smaller total labor force (ages 18 to 64) had attended college, with only 6.4 per cent graduating. By March of 1957 the percentage had climbed to 18, with graduates comprising 9.2 per cent.

The proportion of the labor force taking high school training was 38.4 per cent in 1940, with 20.3 per cent as graduates. Last March the figure had risen to 50.3 per cent and the graduate total was 30.5 per cent.

Breakdowns of the work force show that among the college trained professional and technical jobs bulk largest—more than 63 per cent. But those with no more than high school training tend to find employment in skilled and semi-skilled labor, clerical and sales jobs, service trades, farming. Only 6.8 per cent qualified for professional or technical work.

Not a word in this report, of course, about the content of this education. But at least more people in the labor force are getting it.

HOLLYWOOD (P)—Shirley Temple's Storybook made its debut this week, the first top-flight TV series to mine the gold in fairy tales.

One of the phenomena of the TV industry is that some of the biggest ratings have gone to stories that have heretofore been relegated to the nursery.

So far, they have largely been one-shot spectaculars—"Peter Pan," "Cinderella," "Pinocchio," etc.

But the Temple series is putting fairy tales on an assembly-line basis. Sixteen will be shown this season, three live and 13 on film.

The series got off to a good start with "Beauty and the Beast." It was tastefully produced and convincingly acted by Claire Bloom and Charlton Heston.

The ancient French tale was told straight, with no songs and virtually no comedy.

It would seem that if the producers aim at a mature audience as well as the kiddies, added values should be injected. Some live-action comedy would help relieve the deadly seriousness of the stories.

Shirley Temple is an inspired choice as the hostess and narrator.

I'm happy to know she will be acting in some of the future tales. She is much too attractive to be wasted on emcee duties.

WASHINGTON (P)—Most interesting birthday greeting received by Vice President Nixon was a post card six feet high in the shape of a 45 pistol. His 45th birthday, get it? It was sent by a bunch of guys in a local rooming house.

When the V.P. saw that it took $340 worth of stamps he said, "This is the kind of thing which will take the Post Office out of the red."

OKLAHOMA SEN. Mike Monroney is about the gayest bird in this winter. He wears a red tuxedo coat. Mike's story is that his wife bought it for him.

Her story is that she bought it as a gag, but that Mike likes it so well he won't wear anything else to black tie gatherings.

FRIEND OF OURS has been trying to call a government official for the past two weeks but always found him in conference and always left his number of the official to call him back. Finally our friend exploded to the official's secretary with the following conversation taking place:

Friend: Why doesn't Mr. _____ ever return my call?

Secretary: "He has, but you're never in."

Friend: "I'm always in my office."

Secretary: "Well, he calls back before eight in the morning and after seven at night, and you haven't been in then."

Friend: "I don't get in until after eight, and I leave at five."

Secretary: "That's why he returns your calls when he does. He doesn't want to talk to you."

GLAMOROUS BROADWAY actress Doris West Mayhugh, who has just returned from South America, was shocked at an Argentine embassy party to discover that the chief had never heard of Locro.

She explained that it is currently the favorite dish at Buenos Aires parties and is a delicious soup containing beef, sweet potatoes, chopped onions and hot green peppers.

The chef was so impressed that he asked Doris for the complete recipe and made her promise to sample the first dish of Locro to see if it tastes right.

DRINK TRENDS: Ed Trilling, one of the town's leading caterers, reports a definite swing away from Martinis. Gin on the rocks is what they've started drinking instead.

Manners Make Friends

If you don't want to be thought rude don't go around asking a lot of personal questions. If people want you to know how much they earn, how old they are, etc., they'll tell you without your asking. If not, they will resent being forced into a corner where they either have to tell or refuse.

'Ideal' Wife Far From Rare, According to Men Readers

The men who read this column say the ideal wife I pictured a few weeks ago is NOT too good to be true. Many claim to be married to her. And that's not all. They add quite a number of other qualities to the one's I listed.

Here are a few of the reasons given by men readers for feeling they have married the ideal woman.

Says one: "Though we have seven children my wife not only has time for me, she sees to it that I am treated like a king in my own home."

"If I try to fix something around the house and make a mess of it, I never hear a word. If what I've made is too bad, she just quietly moves it out to the garage when I am not around."

"Though I am hot-headed, we never fight. Many a time I have deserved being told off, but my wife just keeps quiet and pretty soon I see how unreasonable I have been and apologize, though she never seems to expect an apology and never sulks or acts hurt."

A GOOD BACKSTOP

Another husband writes: "In addition to all the qualities of a good wife listed in your recent column, my wife has one that I wouldn't trade for any other. She honestly believes that there isn't anything I can't do."

"As a consequence I haven't been afraid to take chances or tackle a job I myself, thought might be beyond my capabilities. The success I have made in the business world is largely a result of my wife's faith in me."

Still another says: "The nicest thing about my wife is that she doesn't think she is perfect nor does she try to convince me that I am lucky to be married to her. By just being herself with me—faults and all—she leaves me free to be myself."

"And we not only get along fine, but I am secretly convinced that she is the ideal wife—at least for me. For I couldn't stand being married to a perfect woman or to one who thought she was."

Another husband says: "My wife has never acted like my own home belonged to her. I can do as I please when I am alone, invite friends in whenever I wish, and even when she doesn't know they are coming she always makes my friends welcome."

Thanks, men, for telling us the qualities that make your wives easy to live with. Just one question: Have you ever taken the trouble to tell HER?

The World Today

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (P)—Newsmen examine every word President Eisenhower and Secretary of State Dulles say not only for what's new but to discover any changes, backtracking or compromises in their thinking.

This week both men discussed the idea of a summit conference with the Russians, as Prime Minister Bulganin proposed. Eisenhower spoke in a news conference, Dulles in a speech.

Was there any change in their thinking?

Not really. They used softer words than Dulles was speaking a month ago. But underneath the moderate language there was still a basic, tough coldness. The softer words were probably the result of pressure from American allies.

Bulganin wrote two letters to Eisenhower — and this country's NATO allies — suggesting a big summit conference to talk about disarmament and other problems of the cold war.

The first letter arrived just before Eisenhower and Dulles were setting out for the NATO meeting in Paris in December. A State Department spokesman dismissed it as propaganda.

This didn't sit too well with American allies in Paris—or some of them—who are jittery about Russian missiles and think a try should be made for a summit meeting on the theory it might do some good.

The NATO Countries proposed instead of a summit meeting, that a start be made with a meeting of foreign ministers.

But Soviet leaders have given notice they object to a foreign ministers' meeting to solve cold war problems. One thing was sure: while Bulganin's letter did not get anywhere, it made good propaganda for Russia in a lot of places.

Eisenhower and Dulles came home and immediately made a TV report to the people. There wasn't any of the "let's go to the summit meeting" in Eisenhower's remarks. He called on the Soviets to show by deeds they really wanted peace.

Then Bulganin's second letter arrived Jan. 9. It was pretty much the same as the first. This time Dulles, not just a State Department spokesman, dismissed a Bulganin letter as "massive repetition" and propaganda.

In his reply to Bulganin last Sunday Eisenhower, in well-controlled language, said in effect: "Sure, let's have a summit conference but—"

This was the but:

Before there can be any summit meeting, there should be a foreign ministers meeting to work out the details on which Eisenhower, Bulganin and other heads of state would talk at the summit.

This wasn't yielding an inch because there wouldn't be a summit meeting unless the foreign ministers' meeting was successful to some extent. There's a good chance it wouldn't. Eisenhower repeated his proposal at a Wednesday news conference.

Thursday Dulles in a speech at the National Press Club said exactly what Eisenhower had written and said: A summit meeting after a foreign ministers' meeting. This was more positive than just brushing off Bulganin as a propagandist.

It hadn't brought the summit meeting any closer. But it did put the next move up to the Soviets.

Older People Want Individual Respect

BY BEULAH STOWE

"Thank you for writing about older people as though they are still alive and individual," says a Blue Earth, Minn., reader. "My husband is 67 and I am 62, and we both feel like we are human beings worthy of being treated with dignity, not just as part of a lump of 'oldsters' who are a growing problem to the country. We resent the superior attitude which some experts on aging seem to display."

Older people have far more resistance to being "lumped" sociologically than do kindergarten children. And any teacher knows she can't convince a five-year-old that he is exactly like everyone else.

In defense of those who make a study of old age, the gerontologists, let it be said that they are fully aware of the vast range of individual differences which exist in this age group. But their mission is not to throw up their hands in despair because the differences are so great, or to cater to a few individuals. Their job is to create a picture of the aging population.

Through knowledge of the circumstances of more and more old people and of those approaching retirement age, they are finding what needs the community and the government can, and must, help fill. Of course, people like the lady from Blue Earth want to be treated as individuals. They have spent 65 years, more or less, becoming more "individual" every day.

"They don't want to be talked down to, or patronized, or listened to like 'old folks' or urged to play checkers every Tuesday at 2:30. They want to be people who are part of things, not old people who were once part of things."

Faith in This Atomic Age

BY WILLIAM E. GILROY, D.D., off in exile to Babylon.

The threatening blast that might "remove the earth," destroying the Psalmist's world from under him was not atomic, but it was none the less real.

It was under such conditions that the Psalmist wrote of his fearless faith:

"God is our refuge and strength—therefore will not we fear."

It is my strong conviction that faith in God and fearlessness are humanity's deepest need today.

How can we get that faith and fearlessness?

By living with those who have it. The Psalmist would lead us to the God who was his sure strength.

The trouble with the world is that so many have let God go. I sometimes wonder whether we are not headed for panic unless we can recover, or discover, the fearlessness of faith in God.

There was a ritual with secret vows, a motto, a grip and a badge. Pork, Ham or Duck Have New Companion in Orange Rice

BY GAYNOR MADDOX

NEA Food and Markets Editor

Want something different to serve with pork, ham or duckling? We tried this last week and really enjoyed it. You may, too.

Orange Rice

(Makes 4 servings)

One-quarter cup butter, ¼ cup finely diced onion, ¼ cup finely diced celery, 5-pound package precooked rice, 6-ounce can frozen broiled mushrooms, ¼ cup frozen concentrated orange juice, ¼ cup water, about 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper.

Melt butter in saucepan. Add onion and celery and saute over moderate heat until just tender, about 5 minutes. Add rice and stir until coated with butter. Drain mushrooms and add broth to orange juice. Add enough water to make 1½ cups liquid. Add to rice. Add mushrooms, salt and pepper. Bring to quick boil, stir once, cover tightly and remove from direct heat. Allow to stand warm place about 10 minutes. Serve with roast pork, duckling or ham.

Also different are these toasted tea sandwiches:

Toasted Mushroom Tea Sandwiches (Makes 24)

Three-ounce can chopped broiled mushrooms, 1-3 cup milk, 1 teaspoon concentrated spice tomato sauce, 2 drops hot pepper sauce, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 tablespoon corn starch, 1 ounce American cheese, cubed.

Drain mushrooms, reserving broth for use in soup or gravy.

Finely chop mushrooms. Combine milk, seasoning sauces, salt and cornstarch in small saucepan. Cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly until sauce thickens. Lower heat, add cheese and stir until cheese is melted. Remove from heat and add chopped mushrooms. Spread 1½-inch rounds cut from thinly sliced bread with butter. Spread unbuttered side with mushroom filling. Top with second round of bread, butter side up. Brown on sandwich grill and serve immediately. Or heat in panache griddle over moderate heat. Brown sandwiches on one side, about 2 minutes. Turn and brown on second side. Then serve at once.

Monday's Dinner: Sliced leftover lamb in seasoned brown gravy served on toast, whipped potatoes, canned peas with onions, seeded rolls, butter or margarine, raw carrot sticks and celery, leftover cake with chilled custard sauce, coffee, tea, milk.

When the Illinois State Restaurant Association conducted a training school for restaurant employees in Jacksonville, it selected Baxter Hall, Illinois College dining hall, as a center of activity. Employees of the Dunlap Hotel, Hamilton's Restaurant, Jacksonville Country Club, and Baxter Hall enrolled for eight lessons, each lasting two hours. Seated (left to right) are Mary E. Sargent, Mrs. Evalene McGee, instructor, who is connected with the Division of Technical and Adult Education, Southern Illinois University, Carbondale; Laura Dixon, Ruth Hembrugh, Armetta Clayton, Bernice Samples and Evelyn Meadows; standing, Barbara Martin, Iris Brown, Mary Mikesell, Katherine Kelly, John Curtis; executive secretary of the Illinois State Restaurant Association; Norma Scott, George Hamilton, manager of Hamilton's Restaurant; Gladys Crawford, Irene Copley, Judy Cook, Mary Munk, director of food services at Illinois College; Agnes Haynes, Pat Casey, and Dorothy Markille.

George Knoy, manager of the Dunlap Hotel, and Mrs. Betty Brewer, manager of the Jacksonville Country Club, were not present when photo was taken. Others belonging to the group not in photo are Shirley Slagle, Betty Denham, Melvina Logan, Lela May McMeans, Olivia Perry, and Marie Alloway.

a message from Mary—

Here's good news for some one. Yes, we finally have gotten around to announcing the winners of our last year's baby contest. We won't take all the blame for being so long though. We sent the entries to Brooks Institute of Photography in Santa Barbara the last part of September and they weren't returned until the 1st week of December. Then we were just too busy to get the large prints made but we were able to notify the big winners a day or so before Christmas.

Winner for the first week was Debbie Jo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Barwick, 317 Pine St., City.

Winner for the second week was Roy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dean Wright, 1018 Lafayette, City.

Winner for the third week was David, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cordell Logsdon, Mt. Sterling, Illinois.

These winners will be on display in our front window January 20 thru 26th. Why not come down and see if you agree with the judges. More winners will be announced next week.
DID YOU RECEIVE A BEAUTIFUL PORTRAIT FOR CHRISTMAS THIS YEAR? Why not bring it down and let us help you select a beautiful frame for it. The right frame will enhance its beauty many, many times as well as preserve and protect it. We have something brand new we would like for you to see. It is a new frame glass called TRANSLITE—and that is just what it does too. No reflections whatsoever. At present we have it only in the 8x10 size and it sells for $1 per sheet. Why not come down and pick up several sheets for all the 8x10 frames you have sitting around your home. I KNOW YOU WILL BE AMAZED HOW MUCH TRANSLITE WILL IMPROVE YOUR PORTRAITS—just as I was.
If you happen to think about it Tuesday night why don't you watch BIG JIM, the Flying Reporter, on Channel 10. He is going to interview Bill about his many prize winning portraits.
Now that I am back on schedule I hope that I will be able to get this column written every week again.
BE SEEING YOU

ASBURY WSCS MEETS JAN. 23 AT HOME OF MRS. CRAWLEY

The Asbury W.S.C.S. will meet January 23 with a potluck dinner at 12:30 at the home of Mrs. Frank Crawley. Assisting hostesses will be Mrs. John White and Miss Frances Paul.

Roll call will be a Word of Wisdom; devotion with Mrs. John White in charge. The program will be under the supervision of Mrs. Frank Crawley, and the social hour will be taken care of by Miss Frances Paul.

TOP NOTCHERS DECEMBER PARTY AT AUFDENKAMPS

The Chapin Top Notchers Girls' 4-H Club December party was held during the holidays at the home of Sandra Aufdenkamp, who was assisted by Judy Carrigan, Karen Smith, Connie Pulling and Diane Johnson.

The president, Carol Anderson, presided over the business session, which opened with the pledge of allegiance. Roll call was answered by a New Year's resolution. Minutes of the November meeting were read and approved.

After a short business meeting, the president introduced Mrs. Arthur Nergenah of Jacksonville, who presented a talk and demonstration on "How to Make Aluminum Trays," which was enjoyed by all present. This part of the meeting closed with the 4-H pledge.

The hostesses were in charge of the December party, which began with a Christmas devotional with Sandra Aufdenkamp as the narrator and all present joined in the singing of carols and a prayer. The hostesses conducted several enjoyable games, after which a gift exchange was enjoyed.

The hostesses served various Christmas cookies and hot chocolate from a pretty appointed table in keeping with the holiday theme.

Guests were Mrs. Nergenah, Mrs. Delbert Aufdenkamp, and Gwendlyn Johnson.

GOES TO TRIAL—American
Airman 3/C Marion Musilli, 22, of Benwood, W. Va., goes on trial at Athens, Greece, 1/20 on manslaughter charges. He becomes the first U. S. serviceman to be tried by a Greek court. Musilli is charged with involuntary manslaughter in the death of Gen. Staphanos Saraphis, wartime leftist underground leader and member of Parliament.

44 Sealed 'Bids' Received Here On New Program

Wallace T. Hembrugh, local ASC office manager, reported Friday afternoon that 44 landowners in Morgan county had submitted sealed bids to the Illinois committee in the new program whereby individual farmers will take their land out of production for five or ten year periods.

Under the plan, experimental this year in Maine, Nebraska, Tennessee and Illinois, landowners may stipulate that for an annual rent, they keep their land out of crop production.

The new program has aroused considerable interest. The extension service, the soil conservation service, and the agricultural stabilization services have been kept busy during the past two weeks answering questions posed by interested land owners.

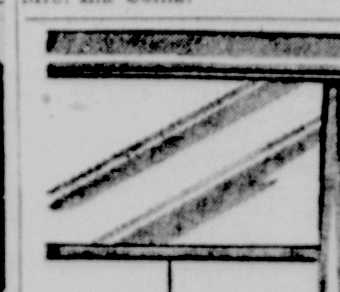

The bids will be received at county offices in Illinois until Jan. 31. The state committee will evaluate them between Feb. 1 and Feb. 15 and notify successful bidders. Those whose bids are turned down by the state committee will have ample time to get into the regular acreage reserve and the conservation reserve programs.

It is understood that some counties in Tennessee, and also some in Illinois, already have submitted more than 200 applications, or bids, each. It is also said that some of the bidders "are literally shooting for the moon" by entering bids of $100 or more per acre annual rent for the five or ten year period.

VISITS MOTHER HERE; PLANS FLORIDA VISIT

Mrs. Ethel Tapscoott Baptist, route three, who has been away for a year at Hinsdale, has returned to this city for a visit with her mother, Mrs. Mae Tapscoott, 427 Hardin avenue.

She plans to make a trip soon to Washington, D. C. and then to Norfolk, Va., to visit her son, Frank Baptist, who is in the Navy. Mrs. Baptist will then continue to Miami, Fla., to spend the rest of the winter with a daughter, Mrs. Ina Coma.

Committee on Religious Education, Rev. Clyde Steckel, Mrs. Robert L. Davis and Mrs. Albert Miller.

A resolution was offered by Earl Spink written by W. L. Fay as follows: "Be it resolved by members of the Congregational Church of Jacksonville that Rev. Harris W. Pankhurst be, and he is hereby declared to be Pastor Emeritus of this church with all the rights and privileges appertaining thereto." This resolution was unanimously approved.

Rev. Eltzen voiced his appreciation of Dr. Pankhurst's ministry in the church and his esteem for Dr. and Mrs. Pankhurst. He spoke at some length and in a humorous vein concerning what he planned to do.

The meeting adjourned with the benediction by the new pastor and the congregation singing "Blest Be The Tie That Binds."

What American Do YOU Think Everyone Should Know?

An American Every One Should Know

Maria Mitchell

By Walter B. Hendrickson

Discovery Of A Comet

Today all eyes are turned toward the sky. We are looking for man-made moons, or we are plotting the route for a space-ship to follow to the moon or beyond. Important as is the engineer or designer of missiles or satellites, if we didn't know about the courses or orbits that stars and planets follow, we would not know how or where to send them.

The astronomer is the person who follows the stars and other heavenly bodies in their courses through space.

One of America's leading astronomers was Maria Mitchell, born a hundred and forty years ago on Nantucket Island, long before any one thought of traveling through space. But she did very important work in observing stars and comets.

Nantucket was the home port for whalers and fishermen who sailed the ocean. Maria's father was a chronometer maker. That is, he checked the accuracy of the chronometers—the clocks—used by the whalers and fishermen.

Of course we all know that time is determined by the position of the stars and other heavenly bodies at particular times of the year. So Mr. Mitchell was a mathematician and astronomer, as well as a repairer of chronometers.

Little Maria helped her father in his work and soon became expert in mathematics and an accurate user of the telescope. She went to the Nantucket schools, but, through her own reading and study, she soon knew more than her teachers.

She read very difficult and technical books and, with her father, made the acquaintance of the leading scientists of Boston. She had a job in the town library, but in the evenings she explored the sky with her telescope, plotting the orbits of stars and planets—and comets, in which she became especially interested.

Wins Medal
One night, in 1847, she discovered a new comet, and so her fame spread to Europe and she won a medal offered by the King of Denmark to discoverers of new comets.

Soon she was well known among the astronomers of the United States, and of the world, too, and was highly respected as an expert on the orbits of heavenly bodies. When Vassar College, the first year college for women in the United States, was started in 1861 Maria Mitchell was chosen to be professor of astronomy.

Although she had had no experience as a teacher, her complete knowledge of the subject, and her warm and friendly manner, soon made her one of the best and most popular teachers on the faculty.

She won further honors as scientist and was elected to membership in the American Philosophical Society, and several universities awarded honorary degrees to her.

BIRTHDAY PARADE

Richard Devlin

Richard is coming right along with our Birthday Marchers in a minute, but our leader today is the youngest marcher we have ever had!

Here they come—
Sheryl Anne (Sherry) Grogan, 215 S. Kosciuszko, age 2 weeks 1, Jan. 5.

Richard Devlin, 685 W. Michigan, age 3, Jan. 8.
Delbert Jean Voyles, Hillview, age 1, Jan. 9.

Carlo-Jo Marimna Grogan, 215 S. Kosciuszko, age 1, Jan. 12.
David Henry Quigg, RR 2, Jacksonville, age 6, Jan. 17.

William John Taylor, Virginia, age 4, Jan. 20.
Helen Kaye Ronat, 322 N. East St., age 5, Jan. 25.
HAPPY BIRTHDAY to each and every one of you marchers! And now, here is another photograph of a marcher—

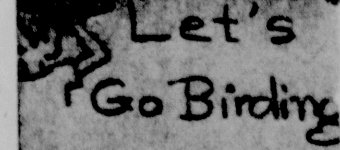

Carla-Jo Grogan

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Grogan
YOUR BIRTHDAY

To march in the Birthday Parade send your name, address, age and birthday to the Jacksonville Junior Journal-Courier 2 or more weeks before your birthday. Send a photograph if you have one; this can be called for after it has been printed.

If you have a party, write and tell us about that later, and enclose a snapshot if you have one.

BIRD CENSUS

By Emma Mae Leonhard

In many parts and cities of the United States every year, a Christmas Census of birds is taken on any day during the week before or the week after Christmas. An attempt is made to count the different species of wintering birds in each place and the number of birds in each species.

Reports of rare birds found during the census become exciting news to ornithologists. For that reason rigid rules are set up for this winter report of birds.

Each person helping with the census must be in the field at least eight hours. There must be at least three people working together in the same area to check one another.

Each group is assigned to cover thoroughly a certain section of the area within a twelve-mile diameter so that no portion will be overlooked. Every precaution is taken not to let a rare bird or an unusual event be overlooked. Details of the bird new to the area must be studied carefully before it can be added to the local list of birds or will be accepted by the National Audubon Society.

At the close of the day all the field workers send in their lists; a total count is made for the area covered, including the kind of weather and the type of locality. A report is mailed into Headquarters of the National Audubon Society, which, in turn, publishes the reports from all of the official censuses in the United States.

Jacksonville Watchers Aid
The area nearest to Jacksonville where an official Christmas Bird Census is taken is Springfield. In 1957 this census was taken on December 22.

Two Jacksonville bird-watchers, members of the Springfield Nature League, assisted a group in the Lake Springfield area. From here came exciting news. Seven Redpolls were seen by the group.

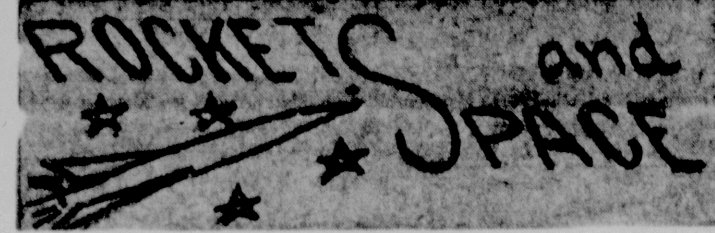

For over twenty years Redpolls had not been seen, or at least reported, in this part of Illinois. The fortunate bird-watchers made a good study of these little streaked, gray-brown birds.

In fact the group saw these Redpolls twice during the day. At last they got close enough to them to see the detailed markings: the red cap on the forehead, a tiny black chin, and the pink breast of the male. The birds were so busy feeding in birch trees that they paid little attention to the watchers.

They hung in every possible position, feeding on the amants or catkins dangling from the birch twigs. Perhaps these Redpolls will be the rarest birds reported in this section of Illinois this winter.

MODERN POSSE
WICHITA, Kan. (P)—There's a wild West flavor—and a modern tang—in recent commissioning of 18 deputies by Sedgewick County Sheriff Floyd Schroeder.

The 18 businessmen formed a volunteer flying patrol, to serve as aerial "eyes" in manhunts or other emergencies.

Ourselves As Others See Us

By Walter B. Hendrickson Jr.

About two billion people know that earth is inhabited because they live there! But if there are people on other planets do they know that there are earth people?

The Venusians could not even see earth or any planets or stars as long as they stayed beneath that planet's thick clouds. In fact, they could hardly see the sun.

But if the Venusians managed to get above the clouds for any length of time either on the high mountains that we think are there or in a plane (or flying saucer?), then they would doubtless be surprised to find the sky full of stars and planets. One planet that they would find particularly interesting would be earth which would appear as brightly, or more brightly, than Venus does to earth people.

The earth would probably be accompanied by a faint white star-like object, the moon. The orbiting of the moon about the earth might be apparent even to the naked eye, particularly when earth is close to Venus.

Both Sides Of Moon
Through telescopes as good as ours Venusians would be able to see both sides of the moon, and could see the continents and larger land forms on earth. The Venusians would also be able to see many clouds in earth's atmosphere though not nearly so many or so dense as on their own.

The clouds would prove to them that there was probably enough air and later to support life on earth. But the Venusians would probably think the temperatures got too cold during the winters on earth.

The seasonal changes in the vegetation would present a mystery to the Venusians because they would not have such marked changes on their own planet. The Venusians might note that similar changes were to be observed on Mars, and conclude that Mars and earth had, therefore, something in common.

Another occurrence which would puzzle the Venusians would be the bright spots which appear at certain places on the earth, then suddenly disappear. These, of course, would be our atomic bomb explosions.

If the Venusians have invented radia astronomy, they can probably receive some radio and television waves from earth. If they can receive enough of these signals from earth, they may be able to determine that earth people do exist.

Next we'll tell you about the MARTIANS' VIEW OF EARTH.

Science Can Be Fun!

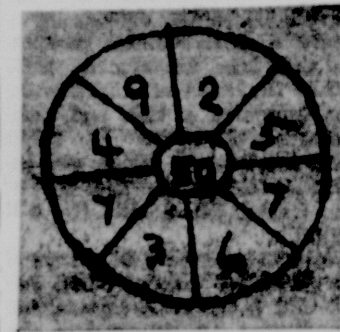

By Joseph A. Smith

Games You Can Make

It's always more fun to use something you make yourself, and this applies to games. Around the house we can find all the materials needed to make these two simple games that are fun in a group.

Let's start out with an old timer, that your folks used to play, called "Ring the Nail."

Cut out a twelve inch square piece of wood, and divide it into nine equal sized squares (four inches by four inches). Number each square plainly with paint, and drive a nail in the center of each square.

Talk Mother out of five rubber jar rings to us as Quilts. To play we stand the play boards up on its side and, facing it about eight feet away, we take turns "Ring the Nails." Usually one hundred points is a game.

Takes Keen Eye
Our second game, "Hitting The Bullseye," takes a keen eye and good distance judgement ability. It is fun but not as easy as it may seem.

Look around for a piece of cardboard about two feet square. Draw a six inch diameter circle in the exact center (it is fifty points!). Now draw a large circle two feet in diameter, divide it like the spokes of a wheel into eight equal parts giving each part a number value. (See enclosed picture).

To play this last game, we each toss three checkers into the circle trying to land and stop in the small "Bullseye." We can play for one hundred points more or less.

Stand back from the board at least five feet; more for adults and less for small children.

Forming Of S. S. U.

By Dorris Walsh Hendrickson

Part 3: Surprise for Jim

Jim, handicapped by polio, learns that the boys trying to earn money to go to the big out-of-town basketball game are having trouble connecting with customers. He figures out a way of having a central place (his home) for people to call, from which the jobs will be given to the boy nearest the caller.

"Just like a radio cab," says one boy.
"Yes, that's the idea. Of course I'll have to charge each one of you that signs up about a quarter to pay for the ad."

"We'll save more than that in shoe leather," said Kenny, and the rest of us agreed.

"I think you ought to get something for baby-sitting with the phone," I said. "How about 20 per cent of what we take in on our shoveling jobs?"

"I hadn't thought of that," Jim hesitated and looked surprised. You could see he really hadn't thought of it, which was just like him. And I knew that he would like to see that game as much or more than the rest of us.

"It's only fair, Jim. Don't you think so, fellows?" I said.

When he saw all the heads nodding, Jim said, "Well, we'll try it for awhile. Maybe I won't take as much as 20 per cent."

Will Idea Work?
Monday the snow began to fall thick as feathers right after lunch. I had a harder time than usual to keep my mind on my lessons, wondering if Jim's ad would bring any phone calls.

I needn't have worried, for by the time I reached home, there were two addresses for me to start on, and I heard later that every boy in the S.S.U. had at least one job. It snowed again on Wednesday, and once more we all earned some money, thanks to Jim.

Well, as you might have guessed by now, every member of Snow Shovelers United was at the game in Center City. Jim was there with his usual big grin, and his grin got wider every time he looked around and spotted an S.S.U. partner.

I had an idea he was getting almost more of a kick out of knowing his idea gave a lot of fellows a chance to go to the game than he got out of the game itself, even though Plainsville won.

I got two cokes and gave one to Jim.
"Got to keep on the good side of the boss, you know," I said, but really it was because Jim's my favorite kind of friend.

Neither candle burns longer. They both burn shorter.

If you know a good riddle send it to the Jacksonville Junior Journal-Courier with your name, address and age.

Tell About Him For The Junior Journal Contest; Win A Prize

By Doris W. Hendrickson

Boys and girls, you have been reading about "Americans Every One Should Know" in the columns Dr. Walter B. Hendrickson has written for this page, and now is YOUR chance to tell about the American you think every one should know—and win a prize too.

The Jacksonville Journal-Courier will give a prize of $5.00 to each of the best entries in the three classes: 6 years through 8; 9 through 11; and 12 through 14. They will also give prizes of $2.00 to the runner-up in each of the three classes.

There will also be something for EVERY CHILD who enters the contest for, in cooperation with the Jacksonville Journal-Courier, the Illinois State Historical Library and the Secretary of the State of Illinois are giving every contestant a very interesting packet of books about Illinois.

In this packet is an illustrated pamphlet "The Great Seal of Illinois" which not only tells about the seal but also the Illinois flag (with colored picture), the state tree, flower, bird, song and slogan. It also tells the nickname, flowers, bird and state song of all the other states.

There are also two copies of "Illinois History." One tells about industry in our state, and the other about government in Illinois. There are two copies of "Stories From Illinois History" one telling about LaSalle and Tony and the other about Marquette and Joliet. Each has illustrations.

Last of all there is a copy of the constitutions of the state of Illinois and of the United States. I'm sure with an interesting Illinois Packet like this every contestant is a winner!

What Do We Do?
Now, I'm sure you're asking, "What do we do?" First decide who you think is "An American Every One Should Know." You may ask your parents, teachers and Miss Conner, the Young People's librarian at the Public Library for suggestions if you wish.

But you will probably think of many names yourself. You may write about a man or a woman, someone almost every one knows of or someone little known that you wish more people knew about: a president, inventor, musician, artist or ????

When you have selected a person to write about find out what you can about him or her in encyclopedias and books (your librarian will be glad to help).

Dates Of Contest
To give you time to get material the contest will last until midnight, Feb. 12.

When you complete your article bring it in and get your Illinois Packet. If you mail your entry, you may call for your Packet later.

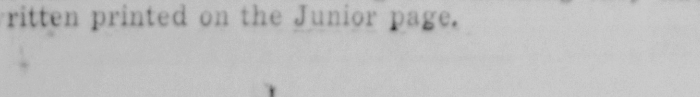

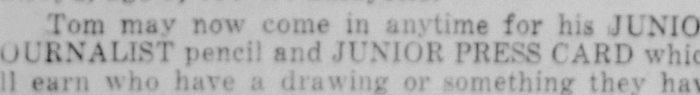

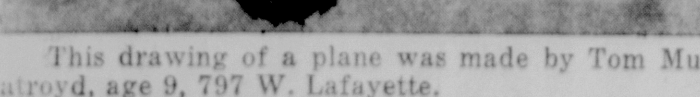

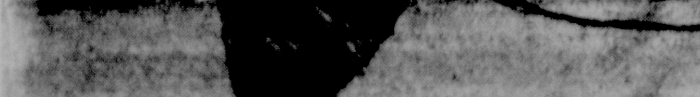

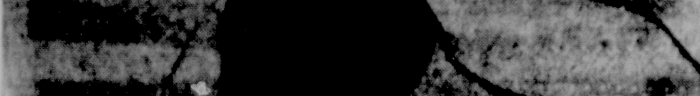

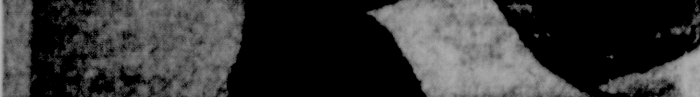

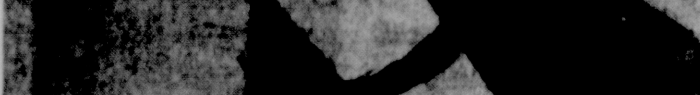

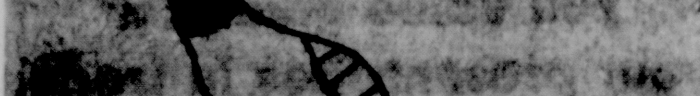

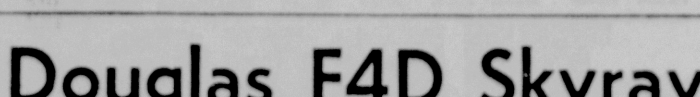

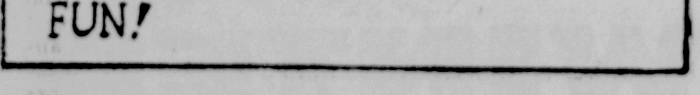

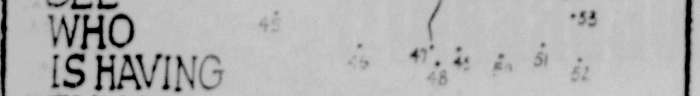

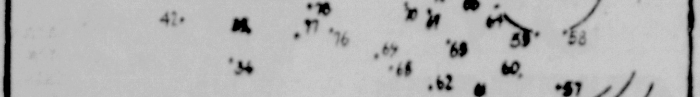

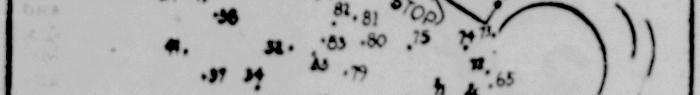

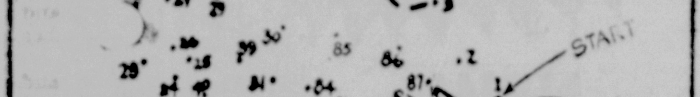

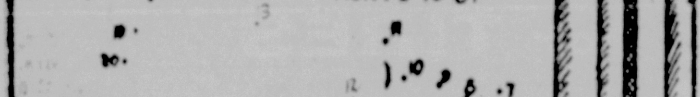

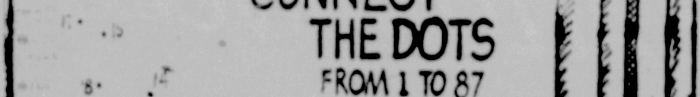

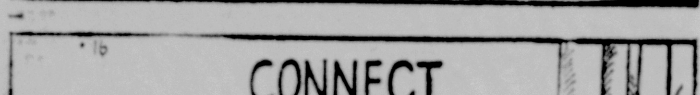

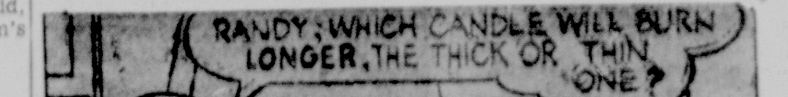

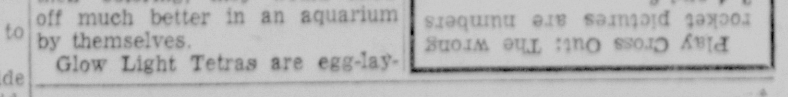

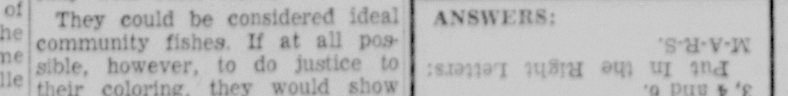

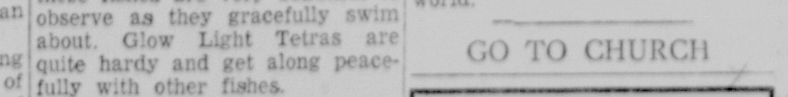

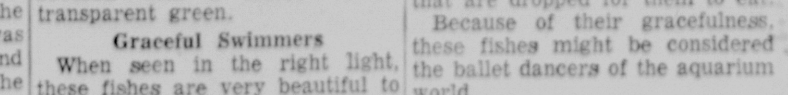

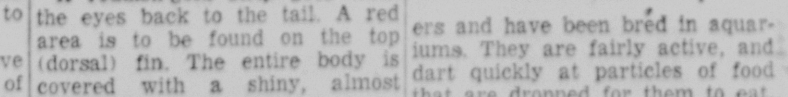

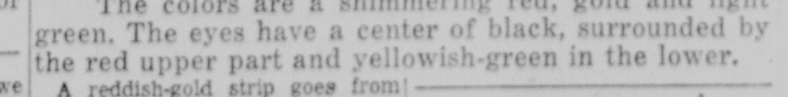

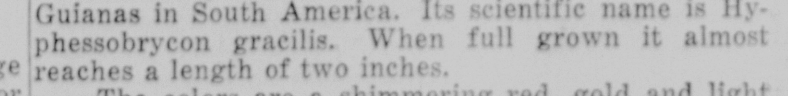

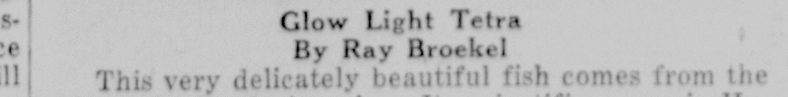

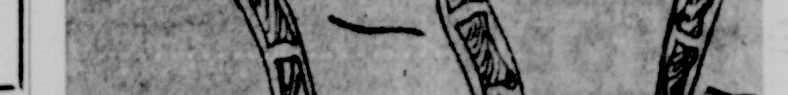

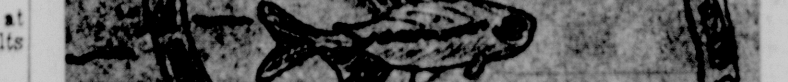

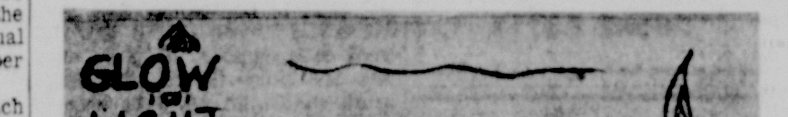

Winners will be announced as soon after the contest ends as possible. All winning entries will be printed and as many others as there is room for.

Contest Rules
1. Put name, age and address at top of page.
2. Write on one side of paper only.
3. Group 1: age 6 through 8 write 50 to 100 words.
Group 2: age 9 through 11 write 100 to 150 words.
Group 3: age 12 through 14 write 150 to 200 words.

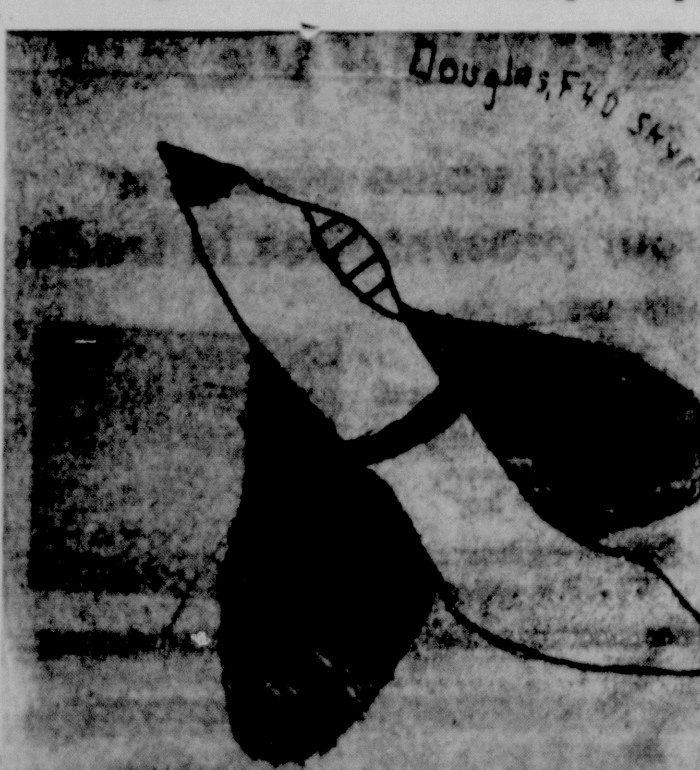

4. Include a snapshot of yourself if you wish. You may call for it after it has been printed.
5. Contest closes midnight, Feb. 12.

6. Bring or mail entry to the Jacksonville Journal-Courier office, Junior Editor, 110 S. West St., Jacksonville, Illinois.

The Junior Editor, Mrs. Hendrickson, will be glad to answer any questions you may have. Better get busy, and GOOD LUCK to every boy and girl!

MRS. DONALD EUGENE MURPHY

Miss Roberta Gregory Becomes Bride Of Donald Murphy In Church Ceremony

Miss Roberta Gregory of Jacksonville became the bride of Donald Eugene Murphy in a ceremony performed the twenty-seventh of December at Our Saviour's church in this city. The Reverend Anthony Cepanis officiated for the double ring ceremony.

The altar of the church was banked with poinsettia and music was furnished by Mrs. Alta Eisch.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Gregory and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Murphy of Murrayville. Before her marriage the former Miss Gregory was employed at the New Method Book Bindery.

From a jeweled crown the bride's veil of sheer illusion fell to the waistline of her gown of Chantilly lace and tulle worn over bridal satin. The voluminous skirt of layers of tulle featured a wide finish band of lace ruffle length above the hemline. The molded bodice had a modified boat shape neckline and the sleeves tapered smoothly to form points over the wrists.

The bride carried a cascade arrangement of white carnations with fern tied with satin ribbons.

Mrs. Jack Davidmeyer of Corpus Christi, Texas, sister of the bridegroom, was the bride's only attendant. Mrs. Davidmeyer wore ballerina length green net over taffeta. The neckline was rounded, and the full skirt worn over hoops. A headband matched her gown and she carried a bouquet of yellow baby mums.

Samuel Murphy of Jacksonville attended his brother as best man. Ushers were Donald McCullough of Winchester and another brother of the groom, George Murphy of Jacksonville.

Post-Announcement Party Fetes Bride

Mrs. Robert Hembrough and Mrs. James Parker were hostesses Wednesday evening, January 15, at a party honoring Mrs. William Martin, who was Grace Ann Hembrough before her marriage last March which was announced the latter part of the year.

The hostesses carried out a color scheme of orchid with white with a decorated umbrella centering the table where gifts for the guest of honor were arranged.

In a hurry? Frozen fishsticks can be ready to serve in eight minutes; take right from the package without defrosting; place in shallow pan and broil about four minutes on each side.

Hands hanging at your sides while standing may seem awkward. But relax and let them hang naturally. It is much better than looking somewhat aggressive with your hands on your hips.

Local Newlyweds

JOYCE SHUTT AND OTIS NUTGRASS

A reception for friends and members of the wedding party and relatives was held following the late December wedding of Miss Joyce Shutt and Otis Nutgrass solemnized at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Opal Shutt, 215 West Beecher avenue. Mrs. Lee Hostess To Circle Electa Circle Electa of Grace Methodist church met Jan. 15 at the home of Mrs. Herbert Lee. There were 20 members present.

The president, Mrs. Clarence Ratachak conducted the business meeting. Mrs. Applebee gave the devotion and Mrs. Charles Thurn presented an interesting program on the 250th anniversary of Charles Wesley.

At the close of the program the hostess served refreshments.

When baking a roast or a dessert, bake your frozen vegetable at the same time. Place vegetable, butter or margarine and salt in a covered greased casserole; allow 45 to 60 minutes baking time in a slow to moderate oven.

An occasional soapy bath for garden tools keeps them cutting through the ground smoothly. Hot suds will soak away most hardened dirt. The remainder is removed with a stiff brush. Rinse and dry metal parts thoroughly. Follow with a light coating of paste wax to ward off rusting.

No definite wedding plans have been announced.

Going barefoot is a good way to improve circulation and give your feet a chance to breathe. In the evening it is relaxing to sit with your feet uncovered and wiggle your toes and stretch them. This takes little effort on your part and eases the day's walking strains.

Put your money on mink when it comes in the form of a headband that can go to dinners and parties or on dates. It lends a luxury look for a moderate price.

Mrs. Scott Tells Class Of Aims, Goals In Life

The Opportunity Bible Class of Grace Methodist Church met Monday, Jan. 13, at 2 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Emily Aughton, 108 Pinley.

Mrs. H. F. Keller presided and called the meeting to order with prayer.

During the business session, committee chairmen for the year were announced.

Mrs. Annetta Scott conducted devotions, using "Looking Forward" as her theme. She stated, "We cannot go back, so we must look ahead to a goal already set."

Mrs. Scott recited a poem of her own composition about her life and aims previous to and following her 87th birthday.

John Reardon presented the program in keeping with the first meeting of the class in 1958. She asked each to tell of resolutions for the new year. The answers were varied. A quiz furnished merriment for all present. The program closed with many good thoughts and a poem.

During the social hour, refreshments were served by the hostess from an attractive table with foliage used for decoration. Mrs. J. I. Graham and Mrs. Victor Kruse poured for the 21 members present.

CARS ARE MY LINE
by: E. W. Brown
WHY AUTOMOTIVE ENGINEERS TURN GREY
It used to be a lot harder to be friendly in the front seat of a car before they moved the brake lever and gear shift off the floor. And if you tried to put three people in the front seat, some unlucky soul had to wrap his feet around those cumbersome protrusions.
So they moved them off the floor. Remember the arguments over whether it was safe to move the brake off the floor because the front seat passenger wouldn't be able to grab it in an emergency?
There was a great to-do when the gear shift went up on the steering column. It did, of course, make driving a lot easier.
But I always smile a little, because some of the earliest cars had the gear shift up there on the steering column. The Pierce Stanhope, made in Buffalo, New York, had this convenient gear shift in 1905, for instance—and the manufacturers didn't even brag about it.
It just proves that the motor car has developed so fast it sometimes catches up to itself, like a dog chasing its own tail.
Maybe I'm a little skeptical, but after all, you have to be when you're dealing in cars. Don't forget that we buy cars as well as sell them, and our professional skepticism is your best protection that you won't get stuck with a lemon.
That's why we check every car so thoroughly after we buy it and before it goes on display on the lot. Mechanics like ours, trained in factory methods, can spot the coming weak points that you might not find for 10,000 miles—10,000 miles too late.
This is the time of year that the careful, trade-in-every-year drivers are out buying their new cars. It's the best time of all to shop for a good used car. Skeptic that I am, I've never seen such a good all-around collection of cars as we have now at the lot, and there are a couple that I'm particularly enthusiastic about.

"If I could only build my own castle..."
A very small wish. But a very big job for little arms that do not respond to wishes. They've been crippled by polio.
Today, this youngster builds dream castles.
Tomorrow, he may use those hands, not only for play, but to work, to build for himself a future supported by his own efforts, his own self-sufficiency.
This is the goal of modern rehabilitation, supported by your MARCH OF DIMES. No longer is it enough to have cheated death. Lives must be given purpose and meaning. The dignity of human life must be restored, with freedom from total dependence upon others for the smallest of efforts.
Of some 300,000 survivors of crippling polio alive today in the United States, one in three could still benefit from new concepts developed through the MARCH OF DIMES. For them, the Salk vaccine came too late. They will need help for years to come. Help them NOW.

Virginia Kiwanis Club Celebrates 23rd Anniversary

VIRGINIA — Monday evening, Jan. 13, the Kiwanis Club marked the 23rd year of their organization in Virginia. Officers were installed and it was "Ladies Night", the meeting being held in the dining room of the Christian church, where the ladies of the church served a delicious dinner to the 72 members and guests.
The singing of a verse of "America", led by George McDonald, and the repeating of the Kiwanis pledge by the members and the invocation preceded the dinner. The following program was opened after dinner by an address of welcome by the retiring president, Carl A. Smith. He also introduced C. G. Colburn, who presented Lt. Gov. Orval Sowers of Oakford, who presented the Past President's pin to Mr. Smith. He installed the new officers and closed with an inspirational address.
During the program "The Captivators", a ladies quartet of Springfield, sang a number of selections. Mrs. James Washburn, one of the members, is a sister of Mrs. David Finney of Virginia. The entire group sang a verse of "God Bless America", led by William M. Yaple, to close the program.
Officers installed for 1958 were president, George McDonald; first vice president, David B. Finney; second vice president, Richard P. Pugh; secretary and treasurer, C. R. Wilson; directors, N. M. Velten, Harold Brannan, Richard E. Horst, Paul J. DuBois, Jack French, William M. Yaple and Ted Harrison.
After the close of the program a number of the ladies and some of the Kiwanis members went to the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Byus, where "The Captivators" were guests of honor at a coffee and a social evening.

Mrs. Unland Is Meredosia Home Bureau Hostess

MEREDOSIA — Wednesday afternoon the Progressive Unit of Home Bureau met at the home of Mrs. A. H. Unland. There were 11 members and two guests present. The meeting began with the pledge to the flag.
Mrs. Aldo Hiernan told the biography of Stephen Foster; then everyone sang "Old Black Joe," the song of the month.
Miss Hazel Graves gave the lesson, "Your Emotions and Your Health." The selected subject, "TV Snacks," was presented by Mrs. Robert Lansink who accompanied her talk with a demonstration, and later passed wafers and stuffed celery. She was assisted by Mrs. Henry Schroeder, who served mince-meat cookies made from the recipe in the lesson sheet.
The unit chairman, Mrs. Marvin Schlicker, presided over the business session. Roll call was answered by naming one's favorite television program. High lights of the county board meeting were read.
Mrs. Minnie Steinberg will be the February hostess. Mrs. Hiernan will give both the lesson, "Everybody Talks at Our House," and the selected subject, "One Dish Meals." Roll call is to be answered with the name of a one dish meal that the family enjoys.
Mrs. Steinberg and Mrs. Schroeder conducted several contests during the recreation period.
Church Family Night
Wednesday the regular Methodist family night began with a pot-luck supper in the church basement.
After the supper there was group singing, with Barbara Lansink playing the organ. A Bible quiz was conducted by Mrs. Robert Lansink and Mrs. Loretta VanDeventer.
Arrangements for the evening were made by the Lansinks, the VanDeventers, the William McCormicks and the Glen McAlisters.

Tigers Annex Fourth PMBC Win Over Meredosia, 55-50

MEREDOSIA—Jim Spink's Tigers captured a 55-50 verdict despite 24 Meredosia free throws here Friday night in a PMBC conference struggle.

ISD made only nine free throws but outscored its host from the field, 23-13. The Tigers connected on 11 field goals in the first half compared to Meredosia's four but ISD held only a three-point gap at halftime.

The triumph evened ISD's mark at 6-6 for the season and it was victory number four for the Tigers without a loss in PMBC play.

Paul Mehrling spearheaded scoring honor for the evening with 27 tallies. Dick Hall and Wayne Goewey paced Meredosia's scoring with 15 and 14 points respectively.

HELP WELCOME HIGHLANDERS TO NEW HOME

Four pipers and two drummers of the Red Robin Tartan, which represents the Robertson Clan of Scotland, were on hand Friday night to help welcome MacMurray's Highlanders to their new field-house. The Highlanders then treated a large crowd to a hard fought 86-83 victory over Belleville. The kilt-clad marching unit was composed of Peoria businessmen. The unit was formed in 1950 with 27 members. Now there are twenty but only six participated during the halftime ceremonies.

MACMURRAY QUINTET SETTLES CURIOSITY

People often wonder what it worn under the kilts. The Highlanders found out Friday night from a real Scot who was born in Scotland. His name is John Kerr. Mr. Kerr wears Bermuda shorts under his kilts whenever he performs on the bagpipes. This isn't the true case of the men in the Scot Army. They don't wear a thing, in fact the Army doesn't issue undergarments. Mr. Kerr said some real pictures were taken during World War II when the Scottish lads would charge a hill and the wind would catch under their kilts. The Highlanders satisfying their curiosity are shown above from left to right, Neil Williams, Don McCarty, coach Bill Wall, Mr. Kerr, Jerry Luce, Don Price and Gary Little.

Highlanders Open New Home With Win Over Belleville

By TOM SKILES
Intercollegiate basketball came to the MacMurray campus Friday evening for the first time in the college's history, but it more resembled the Golden Gloves as Bill Wall's Highlanders whacked Belleville Junior College, 86-83, in a foul-infested contest.

It was nevertheless an auspicious occasion for the Scotsmen, who committed 29 fouls in winning their first game in the new temporary field-house on Hardin avenue. The Highlanders, who led 44-37 at halftime, had to scramble in the final minutes to ward off a last-ditch Dutchman rally that threatened to keep MacMurray from winning its seventh victory in 13 contests this year. The victory brings their win-loss percentage to plus .500 for the first time this season.

An estimated 500 students, faculty and townpeople filling the new fieldhouse saw a colorful halftime show when kilt-clad bagpipers and drummers played a Scottish march. They were a group of six Peoria businessmen dressed in the Robertson tartan, a Scotch plaid which closely resembles that of the new men's college at MacMurray. Their dress was similar to the plywood cut-out of the Scottish Highlander which decorated lamp posts around the Jacksonville square, the new men's dormitory, last October when MacMurray College for Men was dedicated.

Blair Luce Game
The Highlanders, who led 84-75 with 21 minutes remaining, found themselves in trouble when Gary Little fouled out with 36 seconds left. Coach Emery Carter's Dutchmen, lurking 10-12 points in arrears throughout most of the second half, spurred to 84-81 deficit with 18 seconds remaining. At this point, their 6-4 forward, Pratt, fouled out, ending most of their rebound hopes. When 6-4 Lynn "Red" Blair, a freshman from Beardstown, hit on a rebound shot moments later, the game went on ice.

Belleville, who lost 108-85 to the Highlanders last November, started with a 2-1-2 zone defense. But Coach Wall's cagers, who had expected such a defense and were drilled for it, cracked it wide open with a 1-3-1 offense that brought them an early 35-19 advantage midway through the first half. The visitors then switched to a man-to-man defense that proved more effective as the Dutchmen narrowed their deficit to 33-31 with two minutes left in the first half. But the speedier Scotsmen, employing the fast-break at every opportunity, hit on several layups and close-in shots to bring the score to 44-37 at halftime.

Soon after the second half started, Grandcolas and Lengfelder began connecting on long one-handers to bring the score to 44-41. The Dutchmen were still within striking distance when referees Tandy and Steagall called a technical foul on Grandcolas, one of Belleville's key men, and kicked him out of the game. A conversion by Allen made it 69-59, MacMurray, and when Grandcolas was banished from the bench a few moments later on another technical foul, Allen made good on another free toss.

NO. 7 ON THE WING
DETROIT (AP)—Hec Lalance is the third player to wear No. 7 on the Detroit Red Wings this season. Guyle Fielder first wore it this season until he was returned to the Western Hockey League. Then No. 7 went to Billy Dea. Dea was one of the four players Detroit traded to Chicago's Black Hawks to get Lalance and three others.

HELPFUL OFFICIAL
ANADARKO, Okla. (AP)—Tommy Pryll said he has watched a lot of high school basketball games but never saw an official do what was done at the Chickasha-Anadarko contest.

The official spotted a player executing an illegal screen play, so he stopped the game. However, instead of calling a foul, he showed the boy how to do the play properly.

Crimsons Break Game Open In 3rd Period To Down MacArthur

DECATUR—Jacksonville broke a 36-36 deadlock in the third quarter by scoring 12 successive points while holding MacArthur scoreless to gain a 62-49 win here Friday night.

The victory annexed Jacksonville's ninth against three defeats. The Generals have now won six and lost five.

The Crimsons got off to a 10 point spread in the initial frame, 22-12, and led by three at halftime, 32-29. MacArthur tied the score at 34-34 and 36-36 but the Jacks surged into the lead once again on a 12-point outburst to ice the decision.

John Chapman's aggregation hit 27 of 73 shots for a game average of 37 per cent. MacArthur made 19 of 68 attempts good.

By quarters:

At Jacksonville	FG	FT	TP
At Jacksonville	15	39	73-73
MacArthur	8	21	31-50-50

Officials: Wolfe and Avila from Easton.
Preliminary: Chandlerville 31, Astoria 30.

Miss Chandler. James Reichart Exchange Vows

NEW BERLIN — Miss Elizabeth Sue Chandler of Macomb and James Reichart, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Reichart of New Berlin, exchanged marriage vows Saturday, Dec. 28, at the Macomb Methodist church. The double ring ceremony was performed in candlelight by the Rev. O. B. Enselman.

The bride wore a gown of imported, hand-clippled lace designed with fitted bodice and full skirt edged with applied scalloped lace. A pixie crown of pearls held in place her veil of French illusion. She carried a white bride topped with a white orchid.

Attending her sister as maid of honor was Miss Sally Chandler, and secondary attendants were Mrs. Philip France, Miss Elizabeth Tillman, Miss Nancy Laffin and Miss Cheryl Chandler, cousin of the bride. Flower girls were Mary Lynne and Margie Sue McKee, cousins of the bride.

Bernard Lawrence of Petersburg was best man and Robert Reichart, brother of the bridegroom, Cecil Jones of Petersburg, Max Bladie and Max Neuneker were ushers.

A reception was held in the church parlors, after which the couple left on a brief wedding trip. They are at home at 221 South Randolph Street, Macomb, where both the bride and groom are seniors at Western State Teachers College.

Mr. Reichart served in the U.S. Army during the Korean conflict.

CIRCLE RUTH MEETS AT LANE HOME

Circle Ruth of the Grace Methodist church held its January meeting at the home of Mrs. B. F. Lane with Mrs. James Rawlings and Mrs. Cornelius Stocker as assistant hostesses. There were 22 members present.

Announcements were made of the Mission Study Class which started Jan. 16 on the subject "Japan," with Mrs. George Knay as instructor.

Mrs. Nelle Grady gave very inspirational devotions. The program "Recruitment" was given by Mrs. Robert Wallace, assisted by Mrs. Glenn Kendall and Mrs. Anton Engel.

A social hour followed with refreshments by the hostess.

ISLAND GROVE WSCS MEET WITH MRS. PRESTON
NEW BERLIN—The WSCS of Island Grove Methodist Church will meet Thursday, Jan. 16, at 2 p.m. in the community room of the high school, with Mrs. Fred Preston as hostess.

The MYF of the church will meet in the community room of the high school at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 2, with Beverly Fulton and Alma Reichart in charge of the devotions.

DINNER CONFISCATED
CLAY CENTER, Kan. (AP)—The pheasants were partly dressed, deep frozen and packaged by his mother as a dinner surprise for his Kansas State College fraternity. Donald Argabright of Downs told the judge.

But the dinner surprise was confiscated, and Argabright paid a $3 fine. Under Kansas law, the court ruled, it had no choice because the birds were being transported without heads or feet.

DIES BY WIFE'S BODY
KEARNY, N.J. (AP)—A 37-year-old man grieving for the body of his wife in West Hudson Hospital Sunday told his daughter: "I'm going with mother."

With these words, Joseph T. Rice collapsed of a heart attack and died.

His wife had died of a stomach ailment only 20 minutes before. The couple's only child, Mrs. Ruth C. Rice, had offered the father a home with her.

GOLDEN BITE
TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Buddy, German Shepherd sentry at Davis-Monthan Air Force Base, is expected to tear a man apart if the proper occasion arises.

So, when Buddy's teeth began troubling him he was taken to a dentist.

Buddy now has two gold crowns on his choppers, and base officials estimate he's good for another five years of service.

Wood chips reclaimed from seven sawmills in Maine and New Hampshire annually are commercially used in place of trees that would occupy about 20,000 acres of woodland per year. Formerly the chips were discarded as waste.

SEEKS SENATE SEAT
Gov. Harold Handley of Indiana, above, said in Indianapolis that he will seek the U.S. Senate seat of Sen. William E. Jenner, who earlier announced he would not stand for re-election this year. Both Handley and Jenner are Republicans.

THE RETURN OF SID CAESAR

EVERYTHING ABOUT HIM IS BIG, INCLUDING HIS EMOTIONS
OVER FIRST SHOW OF HIS NEW SERIES.

BY DICK KLEINER

NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (NEA)—Everything about Sid Caesar is big. The shoulders on his suits are like two landing strips. His desk is a vast expanse of papers and gadgets and highly-polished wood. His gestures are broad and expressive. And his emotions are big, too. At this moment, putting the finishing touches to the first show of his new series over ABC-TV, due on Sunday, Jan. 26, he says he is "exhilarated"—not simply excited, but exhilarated.

"I'm working," he says, with a little laugh (the only thing about him that isn't big). "That's when I'm happy, when I'm working." And millions of people are exhilarated right along with him, eagerly awaiting the return to TV of the man most critics agree is the most inventive comedian television has yet seen. And they're all wondering how his new series will be, what changes Sid is planning.

They'll be pleased to learn there'll be no changes. Except for the return to the Caesar camp of Imogene Coca, and the dropping of Janet Blair and Howard Morris, this will be virtually the same Caesar show that went off the air last spring.

There's the same production staff, with minor exceptions. The same writers. And this is a new network for Sid, though he's been a camera crew and such, but basically it's the old, tried-and-true Caesar team.

And the approach will be the same, too.

"I can't do anything else," he says. "This is me, this is what I do, this is my work. I can't change. Like a printer, all his life he's been printing, setting type and that. Suddenly, they tell him he's not to pack oranges. How can I change?"

"There are millions of better actors than me. There are other guys who can do other things better than me. I can't compete with them. All I can do is what I've been doing—that's my work, that's my job, and that's all, that's what it is, that's it."

Jacksonville Scout Executives At Greene Meeting

CARROLLTON — Mrs. Robert Hartman, an executive of the Illinois Prairie Girl Scouts Council, and Mrs. John Necomb, president of the Illinois Prairie Council, both of Jacksonville, were speakers at a meeting of the Greene county Girl Scout leaders and committee members held Tuesday afternoon in the American Legion hall.

Twenty-four women were present. The problems of Girl Scouting were discussed and plans made for monthly meetings to be held alternately in Greenfield, White Hall and Carrollton, at which time special training will be given to Girl Scout leaders.

The annual cookie sale in March was discussed. Proceeds from same will be used to defray in part expenses of Day Camp for both Girl Scouts and Brownies to be held this summer in the county instead of Jacksonville as was the case last year.

Mrs. Roy Osborn, neighborhood chairman, presided at the meeting, during which time Mrs. Robert Allen of White Hall was elected county secretary. Mrs. Esther Darrow of White Hall was named vice chairman for White Hall and Mrs. Arch Howard vice chairman for Carrollton.

The next meeting of the group will be held Tuesday, Feb. 11, in the American Legion hall in White Hall.

Herman Bowers Receive 150 At Open House

WHITE HALL—About 150 people attended the open house at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Bower Sunday afternoon in honor of their 50th wedding anniversary. Guests attended from St. Louis, Granite City, Litchfield, Jerseyville, Greenfield, Carrollton, Patterson, Roodhouse and White Hall.

Mrs. Bower's sister, Mrs. Floyd Crowcroft, of Granite City sang "Love Divine" and "Perfect Day," accompanied by their grandson, Gerald Lee McConnell, also of Granite City. Mrs. Harold McConnell and Mrs. Alma Knox presided at the punch bowl, with Mrs. Lena Melton, Mrs. Crowcroft, Mrs. Nellie Willmet, Mrs. Royal Frazier, Mrs. Wayne Eastham, Mrs. Charles Davis, Mrs. Eliza Jones, Mrs. Betty Wallman, Mrs. James Tilley assisting in the serving.

Sharon Crowcroft was in charge of the gift table and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Bower of Litchfield were receptionists.

Ronnie Williams gave an appropriate reading and Rev. Ruth Nicklin, pastor of the First Christian Church of which the Bowers are Deacon and Deaconess, gave a prayer. The couple were the recipient of many beautiful gifts from friends and relatives.

When you're filling thin pan-cakes with creamed chicken for a fancy lunch, you'll need a cup of cubed chicken or two cups of cubed chicken for the filling. An extra cup of the sauce, flavored with grated Parmesan or Romano cheese may be used for the topping.

SID CAESAR AND IMOGENE: "This is me . . . I can't change."

Caesar admits to being unhappy over the time slot assigned to him—one he didn't think he'd be on sponsor, Helena Rubenstein, for a simple reason.

"The others would say," he says, "laughing into a typical Caesar monolog, 'well, we'll do it this way, or put this or that on, but maybe not, maybe like this, or perhaps we'll twist it and put it on there, or maybe do it like this, or how about that, or—' But then this came along, a firm offer, ready-to-go. So that's what I wanted."

As for TV's current lack of comedy on the schedule, Sid won't say much. He doesn't like to criticize anybody.

"But," he says, with a significant smile, "there are other ways of starving besides no food. You can starve from no thinking, too. And in entertainment there should be comedy. You can starve from no laughter, I think."

And, when he said it, he laughed.

TIMES CHANGING
MONTREAL (P) — Capt. Fred Wallace, vice-chairman of the Montreal chapter of the World Ship Society, says sailing vessels have outlived their usefulness as training ships for seamen. Britain, he told the society's annual meeting, now has no sail-rigged training ships.

CHEAP FREIGHT?
Before the introduction of railroads, it cost 20 to 25 cents per ton-mile to move freight overland. It cost about $100 to move a ton of freight from New York City to Buffalo, a distance of about 425 miles.

THE STORY: An uprising of the Modocs has made travel unsafe in Oregon and Ward Sebastian urges Connie Ashland, niece of Major Ashland, to remain at his ranch which is occupied by troops. Connie accepts and Sebastian promises to bring her luggage from Yreka.

XVII

FINISHED with their coffee, Sebastian and Phil Ashland left, and Connie, moving to a kitchen window, watched them stride vigorously across the open interval between the ranch house and other buildings and the corrals beyond. She had always thought of Phil as being tall, yet Ward Sebastian beat him by an inch or two. In any event, they were a pair of fine, straight specimens, and Connie was startled to realize that some small part of her settled interest in one, now was being claimed by the other.

A trace of confusion over this fact caught her and she turned away from the window to find Kitty Dutra at her elbow, also watching the departure of the two men. Searching for a remark to cover her uncertainty, Connie said:

"Mr. Sebastian is a very considerate man, isn't he?"

Missing neither Connie's color or small confusion, Kitty Dutra smiled wisely.

"There never was a kinder. I've known Ward for years. He befriended my father and my brother beyond all reason, and now he is befriending me, allowing me the security of his home until I get my future unraveled a bit. You see, I recently lost my husband in a Modoc raid."

"Oh!" breathed Connie. "I'm sorry. I didn't know."

Kitty Dutra inclined her head slightly and made another of her startling statements.

"Even so I was luckier than some. I lost my husband. Other women, in the same raid, lost not only a husband, but all their future too. It wasn't that way with me, and there's a difference."

She became busy about the stove again, dark, silent, full of contained intensity of feeling, leaving Connie to puzzle out the full meaning of her words.

JUST short of midday, Capt. Judson Dillon and an escort of 16 cavalry troopers led a long line of heavily loaded pack mules in at the Sebastian ranch. With them were Provo Holt and Yancey McCloud. The mules were gaunt and slack-gaited under their packs, and the men looked worn and punished and surly.

Standing at Ward Sebastian's elbow, watching the arrival, Sam Lester grinned like a wicked old wolf.

"Two night camps in open weather along the trail ain't sweetened them fellers any, boy. I wonder what that Cap'n Dillon thinks now of his judgment, alongside yours?"

"It doesn't matter," Sebastian said. "The land itself will teach him—or kill him."

"That feller, Holt," said Sam, "he's got a nerve, comin' in at this ranch."

"Some of the mules are his," Sebastian said. He added, a little grimly, "As soon as they are unloaded, he moves out."

Captain Dillon had dismounted stiffly and briefly questioned a sergeant of the 21st. Now he came over past Ward Sebastian and Sam Lester. His eyes were sunken and bloodshot from lack of sleep, his narrow cheeks drawn and grubby with unshaven whiskers. He would have passed with a brusque nod, but Sebastian stopped him.

"A moment, Captain. The supplies I brought out from Yreka have been delivered to the care of Maj. Ross Ashland, who tells me further transport will be made by Army wagon. And, Captain, with your party is a man I don't care to have on my land. I refer to Provo Holt, of course. I'd appreciate it if you'd see that his animals are unpacked first, so that he can leave immediately."

"The man," said Captain Dillon, "happens to be traveling with me, strictly on Army business. Where I stop, he can stop. He has every right to food and rest and shelter."

"Not on my land or under my roof, Captain!"

DILLON looked Sebastian up and down. "Mister," he said, his voice harsh in his throat, "can't you do anything but try to obstruct Army affairs?"

"As it happens, Captain," Sebastian retorted, "I'm not trying to obstruct any Army affairs. This Provo Holt is no part of the Army. He's a renegade, and whether he is under your authority or not, he doesn't stay one extra minute on my place. If necessary, I personally will run him off with a gun. If he turns on me, I'll kill him! Does that answer you, Captain?"

"I hope," said Dillon sarcastically, "you'll allow me time to report officially to Major Ashland before you take any such violent steps."

"Captain," Sebastian said, with equal sarcasm, "I wouldn't for the world interfere with your official duties."

Dillon went on and turned into the bunkhouse where Major Ashland had set up a temporary headquarters. Sam Lester cocked an eye up at Sebastian.

"Now you've had your say about Provo Holt. But how about that man of his, Yancey McCloud?"

Sebastian shrugged. "I keep remembering he's Kitty Dutra's brother. Because of that, I've made a lot of allowances for him in the past. But there's a limit to a man's patience. This time he's used up his term of grace. So he leaves, right along with Holt."
